STRIKING GIRLS IN NEAR RIOT

Clash of New England Phone Operators Threatens

UNIONS SPLIT ON WALKOUT

Pickets Posted at Exchanges by Opposing Factions

BOSTON. — (Associated Press) — Telephone operators went on strike today in all the New England states except Connecticut. The strike was called by one union for shorter hours and higher wages. Members of a rival union remained at work.

Members of the rival unions, emerging from mass meetings in Boston early today threatened to clash physically. Extra details of police kept 3,000 girls on the move. The operators who voted to strike shouted "scabs" at the rivals who retorted "We're sticklers."

Cat calls, hisses and yells increased the early morning din of newspapers row.

The strike was called by the union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, the Telephone Operators' Department of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The union whose members remained at work is the old local I-A whose charter was revoked after a quarrel with union officials.

EXTRA PAY REFUSED
Strikers picketed the fifty exchanges in Boston and members of old local picketed the pickets.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, after announcing yesterday that operators remaining at work during the strike would receive a special emergency payment of six dollars a week in addition to the regular wages and overtime payments rescinded the order because "so many of the operators have protested against accepting any extra payments for maintaining the public service."

"We won't take anything extra, not even a postage stamp," declared Miss Annie Molloy, head of local I-A.

The strike had its chief strength in the larger cities. Many exchanges in smaller centers reported that their operators would remain at work.

In Providence the strike was practically 100 per cent effective, according to union leaders. They said not a single operator remained at her post after seven this a. m.

Small groups of young boys and girls were taken to several of the exchanges for instruction.

In Springfield as operators were brought to the exchange buildings in taxicabs provided by the company they were hissed by picketing girls and the officers on duty had some trouble in clearing a way for them to enter the buildings. One officer was slapped by a picket.

The company asserted that most of the operators reported in Greater Boston.

The average wage now paid is said by company officials to be $20 a week. The operators have a nominal eight hour day with rest periods which according to the company make the actual working time seven and a half hours.

The strikers demand a seven hour day with the same rest periods and wage increases ranging from $5 to $9 a week.

SHOT BY BANDITS

Chicago Business Man is Victim of Holdup Gang

CHICAGO. — (United Press) — Peter Stour, cigar store manager, was probably fatally shot by six automobile bandits, who held up and robbed two South side cigar stores and a bakery of about $3,000 today.

After robbing the bakery and carting a safe containing $5,000 from the Louis Silverman cigar store, the bandits entered Stour's place and began shooting, wounding the manager and causing a panic among 15 customers.

Fifteen men in the Silverman store were lined up and robbed of valuables.

Regaining his feet, Burbrink alleged he fired two shots at the youth, both of which struck him.

15 CARS PILE UP IN RAIL WRECK

None Seriously Injured in Unionopolis Ford Road Smashup

More than 15 cars were piled up in the ditch and several trainmen slightly injured when a north bound D. T. & L. Railroad freight train was derailed at a point one mile north of Unionopolis, Monday afternoon.

Railroad authorities are investigating the cause of the accident, Conductor L. Bidwell, and Engineer Barr, both of Napoleon, were questioned Tuesday in an effort to establish facts concerning the accident.

The train was running north at a rate slightly faster than 15 miles an hour when a car some distance back of the engine is believed to have jumped the rails, and the following cars piled up on top of it. They were spilled in great confusion about the right of way.

As soon as possible, the wrecking train from Napoleon was hurried to the scene of the wreck, to clear the debris.

The tracks were torn up for some distance.

Trainmen were bruised and shaken up, it is reported by the shock when the cars piled up. No one was riding on the cars derailed, according to reports.

MEASURE MOVES POLICE STATUS

Ordinance is Enacted by City Commission

Ordinance creating change in rank of certain police officers was unanimously passed by the city commission at the meeting Monday night. Action on the ordinance was completed in less than two minutes. The measure provides that the rank of captain of police shall be changed to inspector of police, chief of detectives to inspector of detectives, and that of rank sergeant of motor equipment be created.

City Manager C. A. Bingham said the ordinance will become effective July 5. No increase in pay is provided, he explained.

The ordinance is the result of recommendations made to the city commission by Chief of Police T. A. Lanker three weeks ago. Lanker said he believes the changes will add to the efficiency of the department.

MISSING BOY AND GIRL TRAILED

Youngsters Mysteriously Disappear from Pomeroy

BLOODY HANDKERCHIEF CLUE

Recognized as Property of One of the Pair

POMEROY. — (United Press.) — Bloodhounds today aided a posse that has been searching the wooded hills near here for Edna Kelley, 16, and Herbert Soulsby, 15, who mysteriously disappeared on their way home from Sunday School last Sunday.

Yesterday's hunt netted a bloody handkerchief, recognized as belonging to the missing boy. A torn Sunday school paper also was found in the woods.

The boy and the girl lived outside of town and had to pass thru a lonely section on their way home. It was near here that the two were last seen and no trace of the missing pair was found yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Soulsby and Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley, the parents, are inclined to scout the theory of an elopement.

Following the finding of the bloody handkerchief, Sheriff Wilbur Reeves of Meigs-co. in charge of the hunt, said indications were that the children had met with foul play.

SIX SENTENCED TO DEATH FREED

Arkansas Negroes, Convicted of Murder, Liberated

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (Associated Press) — Six negroes twice sentenced by Arkansas courts to be electrocuted after twice being convicted of murder in connection with the Elaine insurrection in October, 1919, are at liberty today, a misunderstanding or contradiction of orders having brought them release early this morning.

Sheriff A. L. Calloway of Lee-co. had brought them from the jail at Marianna on orders of the Lee-co. circuit court, he said. Warden Martin had no orders to receive them, he said.

They were set free. Recovering from their bewilderment, the six climbed into automobiles and returned to Little Rock. They were charged with complicity in the uprising which resulted in the death of several white persons and an undetermined number of negroes and the calling out of the United States troops.

An opinion of the Arkansas supreme court yesterday directed the dismissal of the case against the negroes on the ground that two terms of court in Lee-co. where their third trial had been set, had been passed without their having been brought to trial.

COLUMBUS. — (Associated Press) — Resignations of two game protectors have been demanded by John A. Bliss, special investigator for Governor Donahoe who is temporarily in charge of the fish and game division, it became known today.

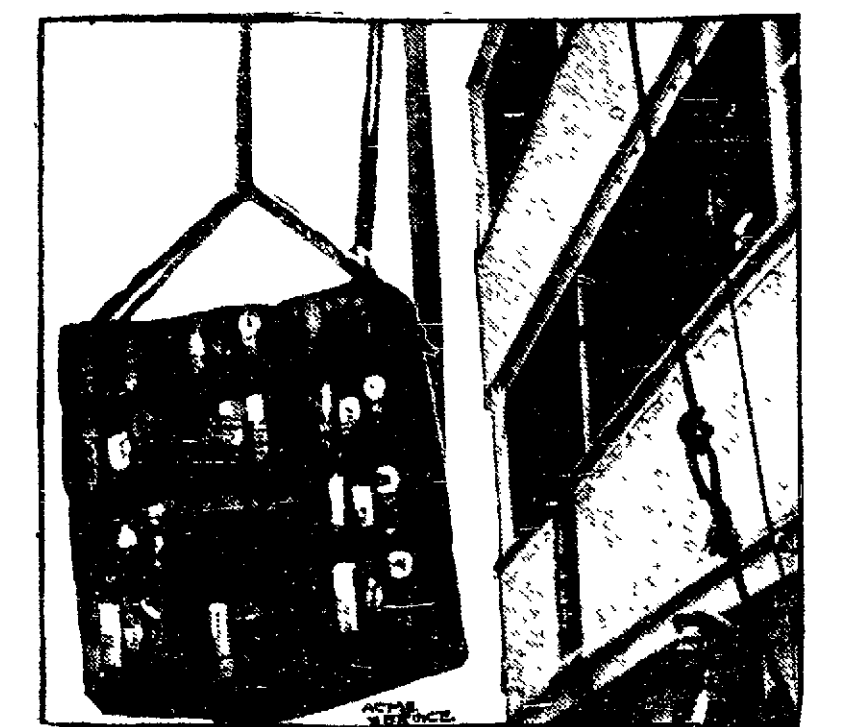

Will H. Bailey, Perry-co. tendered his resignation today. Otis Hughes of Dayton, protector for Montgomery, also has been asked to quit the force, Bliss said.

According to Bliss he found Bailey intoxicated. During a recent raid in Dayton state prohibition enforcement officers arrested Hughes on a charge of interfering with a raid, Bliss declared.

LABOR SHORTAGE GRAVE HARRISBURG

The labor shortage in Pennsylvania today was placed at approximately 60,000 men and women by the state department of labor and industry. ## INSIDE THE THREE-MILE LIMIT

Choice liquors have been confiscated from several British steamers, by U. S. government dry agents. This shows how a derrick lifted many cases from the White Star liner Baltic at New York following the Treasury Department's ruling that foreign vessels may not have surplus supplies within the three-mile limits. Note the British government seals, which revenue agents broke open, affixed to the boxes.

4,000 CASES OF BEER WILL BE DUMPED IN SEA FROM FRENCH SHIP

PARLEY HELD AT NEW YORK

Nine More Wet Steamers Arrive in Port

NEW YORK. — (Associated Press) — Between 3,000 and 4,000 liters of beer will be dumped overboard from the French liner Paris, now in port, it was announced today after a conference in which Collector of the Port Elting, Dr. Sprague of the public health service and Prohibition Director Canfield took part.

While nine ships of five nations were coming up the harbor from Quarantine with return liquor supplies under their governments' seal, customs official prepared today to seize the surplus "medicinal" liquor on six other foreign liners, already in port. The nine newcomers will be treated in turn.

The first ship to suffer the loss of its return supply, the Baltic of the White Star Line left port yesterday and the Berengaria of the Cunard line, its immediate successor, leaves today with 800 cabin passengers bone dry.

Liquor taken from the foreign ships is held by the customs authorities until Washington authorities decide what is to be done with it.

PLANE REFUELED WHILE FLYING

New Feature of Air Navigation is Added

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — (Associated Press) — An airplane in flight was refueled for the first time here yesterday.

Rushing thru the air at 90 miles an hour, Lieutenant Hines and Selfer guided their craft above that flown by Captain Lowell Smith and Lieutenant John P. Richter, ran down a forty foot, steel wire encased rubber hose and within two minutes the feat was a matter of history.

The quartet of officers many times in practice had succeeded in getting the pipe from one plane to another, the fluid of which a few drops scattered over the hot exhaust pipes would have spelled disaster for at least one of the ships. Finally, the officers regarded themselves as "letter perfect" and ready for the hazardous attempt.

The tryout was in preparation for the attempt of Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter to smash all air records for endurance.

Tomorrow they plan to go up and remain aloft four days and nights. Only by refueling in the air could they hope to keep their powerful craft flying for anything like that period.

Approximately two minutes is required for the two planes to fly virtually together and then empty the fifty gallons of gasoline thru the hose from the ship overhead to the ship below.

CLEMENTS UNDER $10,000 BOND

Assault With Intent to Kill Sam Gardner Charged

VICTIM'S CONDITION SERIOUS

Self Defense Will Be Set Up By Hotel Man

"I had to get Gardner before he got me," was the declaration Lee Clements following his arrest by police shortly before 11 a. m. Tuesday at the home of a man named Pugh, 660 N. Jackson-st.

Clements is charged with assaulting with intent to kill Samuel Gardner, junker, 56, of 330 N. Central-av, who is in a serious condition at City hospital, following an encounter between the two men Monday afternoon.

Quarrel between Clements and Gardner occurred about 4:30 p. m. Monday at Frank Albert's garage on E. Wayne-st, police declare. Clements and Charlie Lackey, E. Wayne-st, were sitting in the doorway of the Albert garage when Gardner drove up in a wagon.

Lackey told police Gardner alighted from his wagon and walking toward Clements said, "You can't get away this time," and at the same time picked up a chair and struck Clements on the shoulder. Lackey witnessed the affair, he told police.

Gardner's former wife, Mrs. Anna Gardner, is said to have appeared at the time and attempted to prevent Gardner from further attacking Clements. Clements in the meantime, according to statements made to police by Lackey, picked up an automobile axle and struck Gardner over the head. Gardner reeled backward, falling on his back in the garage doorway.

ARREST CLEMENTS
Following the attack Monday, police had been searching for Clements, who disappeared immediately following the fight.

At 10:30 a. m. Tuesday police received a report that a Cadillac automobile was parked in the rear of a house in the 600 block in Jackson-st. Chief of Police T. A. Lanker and Detective Tom Lawlor went to the alley and entered the Pugh home thru the rear door.

Chief Lanker told Pugh he was looking for Clements and after a search of several rooms the fugitive was found hiding in a small closet off a bedroom adjoining the dining room. Clements made no resistance and when asked by Chief Lanker why he was hiding, he replied, "Well chief, I wanted to stay out of jail as long as I could. You see, I had to get Gardner before he got me. He was bounding me and threatened he was going to get me," Lanker says Clements declared.

Clements was taken to the city jail and later given a preliminary hearing before Judge Jackson in criminal court. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault with intent to kill and was bound over to the grand jury. His bond was placed at $10,000. He was committed to the county jail.

IN HIDING ALL NIGHT
Clements told Chief Lanker he was in hiding all night. About 8 a. m. Tuesday he said he drove to the Pugh home and told the family he was tired. Soon after arriving at the house he called up Mr. Anna Gardner and asked her to come to him. Police found the woman in the house when they arrived to arrest Clements, they declared.

Gardner is a junk dealer and has resided in Lima many years. Clements, according to police, has been in trouble many times. He formerly operated the Western hotel at 811 S. Main-st. That was two years ago.

Last time Clements was arrested was Nov. '22, when he was caught with liquor on the public square, police say. He pleaded not guilty and that charge is still pending. His wife was also arrested at that time, police claiming they found liquor at their home, 715 W. Erie-st.

They have since moved from the above address. Federal charges for possession of liquor is also pending against Clements, police records show.

GARDNER DIVORCED
Gardner and his wife were divorced March 7, 1923. The woman charged gross neglect and extreme cruelty, testifying she had been beaten by her husband; that he spent his money on himself, refusing to aid her or their four children, Georgia 12, Ruby 11, Van Watt 9, and Samuel 8. The couple was married in 1905.

Sheriff Croason states Clement and the Gardner woman have been seen out together in an automobile since the divorce.

Gardner was ordered to pay $8 a week alimony when he was divorced.

TORNADO WRECKS SHIP'S DECKS

Steamer City of Buffalo Has Narrow Escape

365 PASSENGERS ABOARD

Storm Breaks Heat Wave—
Death List Increased

CLEVELAND — (United Press) — The entire starboard upper deck of the steamer City of Buffalo had been carried away by tornado and the ship's upper works were a wreck when it docked here today at the end of its regular trip from Buffalo.

With a velocity of more than 100 miles an hour, the tornado swept down on the craft without warning.

For several minutes the vessel, carrying 365 passengers, was a plaything of the lake. A score of women fainted. One man was injured. Passengers donned life preservers as several women's screams rose above the roar of the wind and crashing of timbers.

The ship was off Dunkirk at 12.15 p. m. Monday when the blast came from the northwest.

Lookouts who saw the approach of a funnel shaped cloud barely had time to shout a warning when it swooped down on the boat, churning the lake into a frenzy. It arrived with a moan which turned into a roar.

DEATH TOLL GROWS

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — The mid-summer heat wave that already has broken the local records for duration and intensity went into the second day of its second week this morning with gentle lake breezes affording some measure of relief.

Three more deaths this morning from heat prostration made the toll here mount to twenty-one. Three other fatalities were narrowly averted last night when three girls were saved from drowning.

Shortly before sunset last evening the temperature went to 91 degrees, the highest temperature of the year in Cleveland by two degrees.

Mrs. Glen Turner, overcome by the heat at her home last evening, died this morning.

George Lybak died soon after he was overcome while working at a steel plant and an unidentified colored man died on the way to a hospital after collapsing, apparently from heat prostration.

HEAT WAVE BROKEN

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Relief from the heat wave of the past week which broke all records for duration and intensity is expected to be general throughout central United States today after a storm which swept down from the Canadian Northwest thru here last night and is reported traveling eastward thru the Ohio valley today.

Moderate temperature now prevails in the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi valley and is forecast to continue several days. Local thunder showers are predicted in areas not directly touched by the storm which swept the Great Lakes region and which will visit the New England states and the Middle Atlantic seaboard, according to the Washington forecast.

Cooling temperatures accompany the storm.

A drop of thirty-three degrees from a peak temperature of 96 degrees reached yesterday in Chicago, resulted in a few hours after last night's storm. The mercury fell six degrees in one minute when the cooling northwest breezes struck the city.

Seven deaths caused by heat were reported yesterday. Unsettled conditions are predicted for today from the section north of the Ohio river.

ST. PAUL, Minn. — (Associated Press) — Reports of a severe storm in southeast Minnesota, southwest Wisconsin and northeastern Illinois trickled in today over thirty wires. Advises from other sections of the northwest, told of the clear cool weather which aided in bringing relief to areas of atmospheric disturbances which Sunday and Monday took nearly a score of lives and hundreds of thousands of dollars in property damage.

The latest storm apparently centered in the vicinity of Dakota, Minn., and LaCrosse, Wis., and also hit points in Iowa, including Marquette. Scores of telephone and telegraph poles were swept down and communication with the district is difficult. No reports of injuries or loss of life have been received. The section hardest hit by Sunday's storm, Bowman and Adams-co in North Dakota—where six people were killed and nearly a score injured, several seriously, is clearing up wreckage of farm buildings and arranging for relief for the sufferers.

66 DEAD IN OHIO

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Breaking of the hot wave, which has held Ohio within its grip for more than a week is forecast for today. Rain is to accompany the drop in temperature, the forecast said.

Fifty-six persons are known to have died in Ohio from causes attributed to the hot wave.

19 DROWNED

DETROIT, Mich. — (Associated Press) — Five additional drownings in Michigan rivers and lakes were reported during the past 24 hours, bringing the total since Saturday to 19.

Two more heat prostrations here were reported last night.

Thousands of persons continued to flock to bathing beaches in different parts of the state when the heat showed only slight signs of abating.

Western Tour

OLD TIME RELIGIONIST

Declares Christianity is What America Needs

(BY LAWRENCE MARTIN.)

WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, SALT LAKE CITY, Utah. — (United Press) — President Harding has replaced politics with religion.

Mr. Harding is today one of the most active evangelists in preaching the doctrines of Christianity. His progress across the country offers the remarkable spectacle of the ruler of a nation preaching, like any circuit riding preacher, the gospel of Jesus Christ as the greatest remedy for modern economic, social and political evils, national and international.

In every speech he has delivered thus far, Mr. Harding has mentioned not casually, but with emphasis, his opinion that what America and the world needs is good old-fashioned Christianity. He speaks of God frequently in all his speeches. He does it reverently and sincerely for President Harding, the evangelist, believes most earnestly just what he is telling the American people—that they need is not a political, social or economic reformation or revolution, but spiritual revival.

If the preachers of this country would follow the lead being set them by the man whose spoken word commands more attention today in the United States than that of any other, there is no telling what wave of religious fervor might not grow out of Mr. Harding's evangelistic efforts.

FREE DRINKS FOR "Y" PICKNICKERS

Return Cards Indicate Big Crowd
at Thursday Event

That the big picnic planned to be held at McBeth's park Thursday by the Y. M. C. A. will be well attended is evidenced by the large number of return cards being received at the "Y". Tom Pearson, secretary, stated Tuesday.

It is expected that all those who intend to participate send in the return card attached to the invitation, so that the committee will know how many to provide for in the matter of eats. These cards were sent out Saturday.

So that transportation facilities may be provided for all who will attend, return of the cards is also necessary. Autos will leave the Y. M. C. A. at 2:30 and 3 p. m. Thursday. James Heffner, manager for the Lima Auto club, is arranging for plenty of cars, aided by an active committee.

Coca Cola will be the favorite drink of the afternoon at the picnic. A generous supply of the cooling beverage will be on hand, to be served free to those participating. J. G. Watson of the Coca Cola Co. assures.

(BY GEORGE BRITT)
Why isn't avert xel. N NUU CHICAGO — (Special) — Why do university courses in psychology slight the profoundest emotion of them all?

Why isn't that emotion—it's love (pronounced luv), of course—analyzed scientifically and its causes, circumstances and results pointed out for the enlightenment of the student at the threshold of life?

Those are questions which a group of nonsentimental co-eds at the University of Chicago want to have answered by the faculty not later than the opening of the fall term. There was talk early this spring about the need of instruction in love (pronounced luv) psychology, but Professor Forrest Kingsbury of the department of psychology disapproved.

FOR SUMMER TERM

If the faculty is amenable to good argument, the co-eds are going to have that course by next fall, tho, and for the summer term if possible.

"We mean this, seriously," says Margaret Cleary, blue-eyed junior.

"Here is a subject which affects every human being. It is the motive for the most important events in life, good or bad. And so far as the student is concerned, it is passed over with a casual reference and a smile. It deserves scientific study."

Peggy Wilson declares, impersonally, that she wants the course to help her in future writing. She expects to write fiction, necessarily love (pronounced luv) stories, and she wants to be sure she knows what she's talking about.

AN HEART THROB

Professor Kingsbury originally stilled the flutterings of interest in the heart throbs course with two formal reasons why not. First, he declared, students attracted to the course would be actuated by morbid eagerness for the sensational. And in the second place, it would be impossible to cover the subject adequately in a single course.

The girls, renewing the appeal for the course, now insist that his first reason does not apply to them and say they are willing to take the chance of learning in a single course a lot about love (pronounced luv).

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE WRECK

Negligence Charged in New York
Elevated Crash

NEW YORK — (Associated Press)

—Seven dead and more than 50 injured was the toll in the wreck on the Fifth-av, Brooklyn line of the Brooklyn Manhattan elevated yesterday when two coaches jumped the track and plunged to the street from the elevated structure. Six of those killed were women. The men had not been identified.

"What caused the train to leave the track is still a mystery and may remain one," said the district attorney in announcing his intention to push an immediate grand jury investigation. "But this much is certain, the condition of the guard beams, laid for the purpose of keeping in check derailed trains, gives unmistakable proof of culpable negligence in the upkeep of the road."

"Those beams were found to be crumbling from dry rot. Portions of them yielded to a squeeze of the hand. Every one concerned with the upkeep of this road, from the transit commission down to the track walkers, will be called to give their explanations of the rotten condition of these guard beams to the grand jury."

The wreck, which occurred in the busiest traffic intersection of Brooklyn was witnessed by hundreds of persons in the street. The cars hurtled thirty-five feet to the street, carrying with them a mass of electric trolley wires.

Police and firemen joined in the rescue of those planned in the wreck.

street over two years ago.

At a meeting of the city commission Monday a communication from E. Ellen Simonton, executrix for the estate of Lucinda V. Sherman, was read. Simonton charges damage to the extent of $400 was caused the property, which includes damage to the fence, sewer, sidewalks and other property.

Purchase of 25,000 gallons of road oil to oil a number of unpaved streets in Lima was sanctioned by the commission. Cost of the oil is $2,375. Oiling of dirt roads was started this week.

Delegation of owners of baggage and express wagons called on the city commission, asking that the ordinance, affecting parking of wagons on the main streets be carefully considered before final action is taken.

M. O. Shappell, spokesman for a number of baggage and expressmen, declared they were being hounded from one place to another and now are practically without a place to park. Ordinance provides that they park at the market place.

"That is not only impracticable, but dangerous, because if a fire should break out in the frame buildings near the market house, with perhaps 40 wagons parking nearby, the fire department would be greatly hindered," Shappell declared. He also said that property owners near the market house would register a protest if the express wagons were authorized to remain there.

Express and baggage men say they favor parking places for one or two wagons at various places in the city. This the city objects to, claiming it is unsanitary to permit horse drawn wagons to park on the main streets.

Despite opposition of the baggage men, the commission passed the ordinance. Mayor Cunningham said if the measure proves inadequate or impracticable, it will be changed.

WADING POOLS AT CITY PARKS BEING REPAIRED

Wading pools at Faurot and Lincoln parks are being repaired and deepened for the benefit of children of the city.
T. M. Frazier, physical director with the Allen-co Child Welfare association, reported Tuesday.

The pool at Faurot park is being extended to a depth of eight inches and a cement bed installed. Repair work at the Lincoln pool consists of addition of water proof material.

The first unofficial game of the Welfare indoor base ball league was played Monday afternoon between teams of the west side, Frazier reported.

Two teams will meet at Lincoln park Tuesday afternoon for organization. The first scheduled game of the league will be played Wednesday afternoon at Faurot, he said.

Approximately 20 boys are expected to go on a bicycle trip to Scott's Crossing Thursday afternoon. They will leave at 9 a. m., take lunch at the Crossing and will return early in the afternoon.

Expressmen Lose Fight Against

City Manager C. A. Bingham and city commissioners at 1 p. m. Tuesday damage alleged to have been caused the bridge when the city paved the street over two years ago.

The motorman and conductor and three passengers leaped before the train hit the car. William Wachs, Covington, Ky., jumped from a window and wrenched his left leg.

DRY LEADERS IN WAR COUNCIL

Chiefs of 40 States Hold Conference at Westerville

PREPARE FOR WET DRIVE

Plan to Defeat Attempts at Enforcement Repeals

WESTERVILLE, Ohio — (United Press) — The nation's "dry" leaders today made plans to throttle "the inevitable onslaught of the 'wets'."

Steps to "dry pack" every state legislature against following New York in repealing its prohibition enforcement code were taken by high officials of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

Forty state superintendents and ten other officers sat in war council and outlined the first nation-wide campaign to curb "back tracking" on prohibition.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

The new fight will seek to:
1—Readopt a strict enforcement code in New York and combat repealer proposals in other state by packing the legislature with "dependable dries."

2—Make certain at least a 90 per cent dry congress by stamping every congressional district in the country before the next elections.

3—Prevent the inclusion of wine and beer plank in the next Democratic platform.

P. A. Baker, general superintendent, declared the league is convinced that Governor Al Smith, New York, and several other Democratic leaders are preparing to force across a wet candidate for president.

"The onslaught of the wets is inevitable," Baker asserted. "We are confident that Mr. Harding, who in all probability will run again, will remain dry."

REAL FIGHT AHEAD

"Many more state legislatures would have attempted to repeal their enforcement codes had they been in session after the backward step's success in New York. We know a real fight confronts us when the legislatures meet again this winter."

"We are prepared to match their strength dollar for dollar and not let up until the opposition is effectively whipped."

Baker said in view of congressional reapportionment which would give heavier representation to the great centers of population, the "dry" campaign will probably concentrate in the big cities.

The renewed campaign, born in the very cradle of prohibition, will use the churches, Baker said, "to furnish the munitions of war."

The call will go out from Westerville, the country's "prohibition capital" to all churches at the close of the present meeting.

HONEYMOON TRAIL ENDED BY LAW

Wapak Man Arrested Soon After Marriage on Girl's Charge

Arrested within a few hours after he had taken marital vows, on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a girl, is the unusual honeymoon experience of George C. "Dude" Schemmel, 31, Wapakoneta manufacturer, against whom serious accusations are made by Lillian Barber, 17, of 242 S. Pine-st.

Schemmel will be tried on the charge on July 11, by a jury before Juvenile Judge Lawrence Brodbeck, Wapakoneta.

His bride of a day, formerly Echo Robinson, a pretty Wapakoneta girl, is heart-broken by the affair.

Hardly had the wedding ceremony been performed, a few days since, when the bridegroom was dragged away by Juvenile Officer Lon Jacobs.

Jacobs charges that on April 19, Schemmel, accompanied by Miss Barber and Bernard Copeland, Martha Lowry, of Lima, took a joy ride in Schemmel's car near Cridersville. Authorities allege improper actions by Schemmel.

While on the trip, the party was held up, it is alleged, by Harold and Carson Edgington, who were later arrested and sentenced to Mansfield reformatory. Schemmel is held on $1,000 bond.

Lillian Barber is a ward of the Allen-co juvenile court. A jury has been drawn to hear the case, on July 11.

GLADLY INDORSES PLANT JUICE

Feeling Better Than in Years Since Taking the Herbal Medicine

RELIEVED STOMACH TROUBLE

"I am feeling better than for years since taking your Plant Juice medicine and am more than pleased to make this public statement about Plant Juice after what it did for me," said Mrs. Mary Stewart, of 1508 Wells street, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

MRS. MARY STEWART while talking with The Plant Juice Man recently.

"For two years I had suffered with my stomach," Mrs. Stewart continued. "I had bad gas pains and pains in my back and between my shoulders. The least thing I ate would cause me to bloat and be in distress with pains around my heart and shortness of breath. I had a sluggish liver and felt tired out as a result so that it was an effort for me to get anything done. At night, I was restless and couldn't sleep. I was always constipated; had headache a great deal of the time; kept losing weight every day and just didn't know what to do for I had spent a great deal of money for different medicines but without benefit.

"Then I heard about your Plant Juice and started taking it and am now feeling better than in years. My appetite is improved and my food does not distress me as it did before so that I do not have the gas pains now. I am not so nervous and sleep fine and the constipation has been relieved. I have gained weight also and, after what Plant Juice did for me, I am glad to make this public statement and recommend it."

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of the remedy. Free samples given.

Plant Juice is sold also in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store opposite Post Office.—Adv.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

THE WEEK'S CHIEF EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

Harding's Trip -- Prohibition--Ruhr Industries

BY CHARLES P. STEWART.

Every time his train stops long enough President Harding, on his way to the Pacific coast and Alaska, makes a speech about his policies. There is nothing political about the jaunt. It's hard to see what else there is, but anyway that's what the administration managers say.

At St. Louis the president discussed his world court plan.

At Kansas City he took the cork of a new prescription for the "diseases"—a plan for dividing them into "regional groups," each under "common management," all under "government supervision," the "stronger groups" to support the weaker ones.

Otherwise government ownership, which he deprecates, is inevitable, he says.

Time enough hasn't passed for many people to have formed much of a conclusion concerning the president's merits, but it's evident already there's going to be plenty of opposition. Maybe lots of support, too. However, those who don't like the idea have been first to express themselves.

WET WEATHER

Prohibition continues to be the country's main news topic.

England balked on allowing the United States to chase smugglers more than three miles off shore, at St. John's. This one plan the government hoped would help the situation.

It has been announced that enforcement authorities will not interfere with alcoholics on foreign ships from countries whose laws require each drink to be served to their sailors. That is, they won't interfere unless the amount of drinks on board exceeds the supply the ships own crews need.

This liquor's to be considered "medicine."

As "dry" a paper as the Cleveland Plain Dealer says "of course it's a subterfuge, but it's a harmless quibble." It's merely a practical common sense interpretation.

WITHIN HER RIGHTS

But it hasn't helped countries whose laws don't say their sailors must have drinks. England's the most important of them. She has no such law. Consequently, her ships aren't entitled to an adequate supply of "medicine."

Nevertheless the big English liners Berengaria and Baltic arrived in New York with enough drinks on board, under seal, to last them home again. It was intended as a test. Enforcement officials broke the British customs seals and seized the drinks.

It seems certain there'll be more of this as fresh ships arrive.

Other countries recognize that

America's within her rights in regulating her ports as she pleases. What they do contend is that she's guilty of a breach of courtesy which puts her outside the pale of international polite society. They admit they can't do anything for their ships in American waters, but they can "take it out" on American ships in theirs. This may be expected confidently.

THUNDERSHOWERS, FORECAST READS

Wet weather is always good weather for ducks. The feathered tribe is praying for moisture most all the time and is never satisfied.

Prospects Tuesday for a generous measure of precipitation brought joy to the hearts of the quack family and they were out in full force with heads up, ready to get busy when Jupiter Pluvius opened the valves of the rain clouds.

Along with promise of thunderstorms this afternoon and tonight also came a prediction of fair and cooler conditions for Wednesday. That's a fine prospect; one that is not to be sneezed at, as one might say, in a slang way.

Ted, the weather mascot, joins with the duck family in hoping for rain. His summer coat is rather shaggy, due to shedding, and needs washing.

City Manager Bingham has issued an order preventing Ted from bathing in the city waterworks reservoirs and Ottawa river isn't inviting. So he must needs depend upon the rain king.

Ted doesn't admit it, but it may be his annual bath is in prospect. He must have it before his vacation begins, he explains. Vacationists are getting busy in hiking away for summer recreation and swimming places are growing in popularity.

ernment's hope of checking the flow of drinks across the northern border. On the contrary, New York state's withdrawal of support from the government's activities against smuggling has stimulated this traffic mightily.

IN THE RUHR

France has announced her intention to seize all Ruhr industries producing anything she can apply to toward settlement of her war damage claims.

She says also she's going to conscript German labor to keep these industries going, which sounds something like slavery. For workers who balk, imprisonment is threatened, up to fifteen years, and for those who commit acts of sabotage, death, it's stated, will be the penalty.

"RECORD RHUBARB GROWTH" IS CLAIMED IN PUTNAM-CO

"The tallest rhubarb on record," is the legend appearing on the paper wrapping of three stalks of old-fashioned garden "pie plant" brought to The Lima News office Tuesday by John McBride, Pandora, Putnam-co.

McBride says the stalks were taken from his garden. The longest measures exactly 30 inches up to point where the leaf begins. The others are almost as long. The leaves are large enough to rival elephant ears.

WILL CALL DOCKET

PERSONIFIES SUCCESS

Cook likes to talk of success, which his friends say he personi-

"Success," he says, "is the mea-

And in speaking of success, Cook lays modern standards of pro-

a standard is a mockery."

John Burroughs and Luther Bur-lieves.

"If Burbank were in business to raise dollar signs on trees he would long ago have ceased his botanical labors and would have taken up some more remunerative occupation."

Presidents of railroads and other corporations many times are reputed successes he adds but the history of their organizations shows one receivership after another.

When Cook was 24 he was asked to read a paper on the future possibilities of steel before an audience of engineers. His statements were sound. They still are being quoted, but so ungrammatical was his English his auditors laughed.

He was puzzled. Also humiliated.
A friend told him why they laughed.
Then he set to work to study English and now is an authority on it.

Another of his accomplishments is law. His friends say he would have made Supreme Court timber. But he uses this knowledge only in his daily work.

Cook began inventing things
when a mere boy. Now he controls patents for many articles used on steamships. One of his most noted inventions is a pack which prevents escape of steam from engines. Many railroads have adopted it.

ATTEND WOOSTER CONFERENCE

Local Farm Bureau Delegation to Hear National Experts

SEE DECREASE IN INSECTS

Better Apple Crop for State Predicted by Fruit Men

County Agent H. J. Ridge and Carson F. Mertz, manager of the Live Stock association, left Monday evening for Wooster, where they will attend a conference with marketing directors of the Farm Bureau federation.

The conference, which will be attended by marketing experts from all over the United States, will continue two days. Thursday the conference will adjourn to inspect the work of the agricultural experiment station.

A delegation of Allen-co farmers accompanied the local bureau officials.

Reports received thus far over the state indicate that the chinch bug, which has made its appearance in Allen-co fields, is not so numerous as last year.

Accurate forecasts of the damage the bug will do are impossible until after wheat harvest, when the insect will invade the corn fields, it is stated. The only way to fight the bug, they say, is the erection of tar barriers around the wheat stubble.

Ohio will have a slightly better crop of apples than last year, state horticulturists predict and the United States as a whole will have something less than last year's crop.

The June drop in the state this year has been extraordinarily severe in spots, fruit experts report. May froze injured stems as well as blossoms.

R. B. Cruickshank, state horticulturist, estimated the 1923 national crop at 25 million barrels, as compared with 38 million last fall.
Apples appear to be more evenly distributed over the states than last year, according to advices received at the office of the county agent.

HARDING TO SPEAK ON TAXES

Subject to be Discussed at Salt Lake City Tonight

TRAIN EQUIPPED WITH PHONE

Quickly Linked With Capital by Special System

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, ENROUTE TO OGDEN, Utah — (Associated Press) — Leaving the plains section behind, President Harding today journeyed into the state of Utah to spend two days, one in Ogden and Salt Lake City and the other in Zion National park. The presidential train crossed the Wyoming state line into Utah early today and continued toward Ogden, where it will be temporarily abandoned in favor of automobiles for the journey from Ogden to Salt Lake.

The program for the president's stay in Salt Lake as announced on the train provides a greeting from the school children in Liberty park, a public reception at his hotel, golf during the afternoon, an organ recital at the Mormon Temple, delivery of a formal address at 8:30 in the tabernacle and departure shortly before midnight for Cedar City, Utah, for the visit to Zion Park tomorrow.

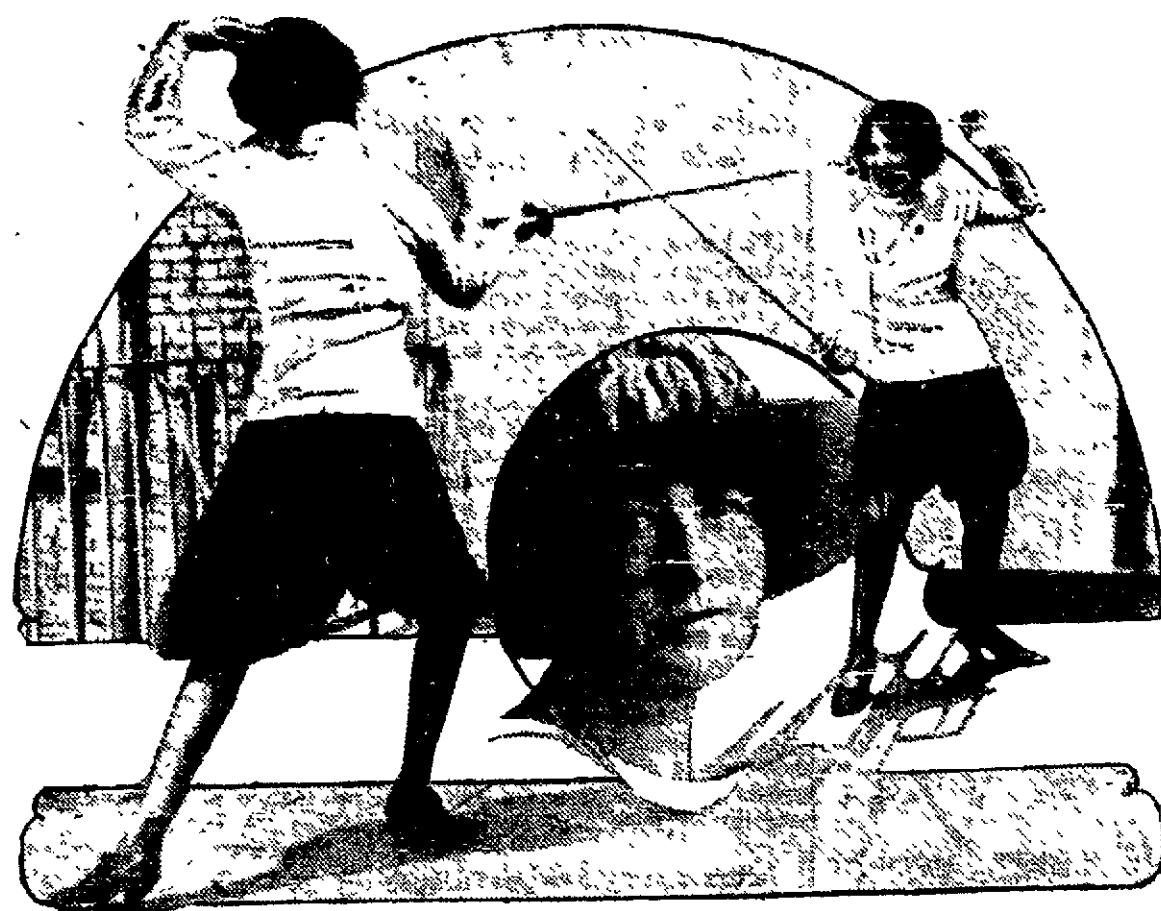

The chief executive has selected taxation as the subject of the address he will make in Salt Lake largely because of Utah being the home state of the chairman of the senate finance committee, Senator Smoot. Thus the president will define further the views of his administration on national questions.

COAL QUESTION
Speaking yesterday in Denver, Mr. Harding made a declaration which was generally interpreted as putting him on record against any change in the prohibition laws except to make enforcement more stringent. In a rear platform address later in the day at Cheyenne, Wyo., he declared against nationalization of the country's coal mines and asserted that the coal strike of a year ago had demonstrated completely that there can be no coal mining in free America under the "force of arms." He also discussed the work of the federal coal commission and predicted it would bring to the country "a new understanding" of the problem with a final solution a possibility.

NEW FEATURES
One of the features of the president's trip little known to the public he has addressed but which has been the subject of considerable comment among members of the party, including the president, is the achievement in telephone engineering daily demonstrated. The special train has a special telephone system of its own, which, immediately the train stops in larger centers, is connected with a special switchboard in the city. From this switchboard lines previously have been extended to the presidential quarters at the hotel, to the headquarters set up for the newspaper men, to the press association offices, and to the various points in the city where the president may stop. Thus the whole party may keep in touch with each other and, further, upon a few minutes' notice may establish communication with Washington and the east.

RADIO OUTFIT
Another achievement is giving the president great satisfaction and that is the apparatus which has been installed on his observation platform and in every hall in which he has spoken, whereby his addresses are broadcast by radio to invisible audiences throughout the country. Every day the president receives numerous messages, some from New York, others from Washington, still others from New Orleans and others from cities on the Pacific coast, which have been sent by persons who, sitting in their own homes, have listened to his address.

USE SWORD AND SLASH YOUR WEIGHT

MRS. BERNADETTE HODGES (INSET) KEEPING IN TRIM BY FENCING WITH DAUGHTER MAXINE

NEW YORK — (Special) — More advice on weight reduction: Do it with a sword.

It's bloodless, painless and very effective.

So says Mrs. Bernadette Hodges, physical culture authority, who has eaten to grow thin, starved to grow thin, exercised by violent methods, exercises by gentle methods, but never found the right combination until she took up fencing.

And now she is as lithic as her young daughter, Maxine.

"To the woman at home or in business," says Mrs. Hodges, "the art of fencing opens the perfect way for physical development. One needn't rush out of the city to the wide open spaces for her exercise! She may get it right in her own home with her shadow."

"In just the same way that the fighter keeps fit with shadow-boxing, so may the fencer keep in trim with shadow-fencing."

"There are no age limitations for the fencer. One may be young, middie-aged or old. It makes little difference. One of my best pupils is a woman more than 60 years old! Thru her fencing she has developed the agility of a woman of 40."

"And for stout women—fencing is the perfect steady systematic fat reducer. Fat simply melts away with the clashing of swords."

And if that isn't enough, Mrs. Hodges says that it makes the brain more alert.

Mrs. Hodges formerly was president of the Woman's Swimming Association of Brooklyn.

MOVIE STORY TO BE FILMED HERE

Work Starts Thursday on "Too Many Heroes"

Lima's business and residence district will resemble that of Hollywood within a few days.

Thursday morning a group of young local people will assemble to take part in a Lima photoplay, which will be shown in the Sigma theatre beginning July 18.

Under the auspices of the Sigma theatre, a motion picture composed exclusively of local persons will be made by Clarence Guthermuth, director.

Lima and environs will be used for the setings. The plot will deal with Lima. Interior scenes will be taken in the Lima club and various residences in the city.

The name of the photo play to be produced by and for Lima persons is "Too Many Heroes."

Miss Dorothy Kahle will be the star of the production, taking the part of Betty Lee, a young society girl who has much trouble. Henry Wemmer, Jr., will play the part of Johnny Rolfe, life-long suitor for Betty's heart and hand.

Richard Gensel will portray the activities of a cub reporter on The Lima News.

Helen Hughes, Dorothy Huner and Pauline Wemmer will be girlfriends of the star and Eddie Starke, the cub reporter, will have as friends and accomplices, Carl Plummer, Walton Wyre and Robert Breckenridge.

STATE WINS POINT IN MURDER CASE

Petition in Error as to Cleveland Woman's Trial Granted

GIVEN 20 YEARS IN PRISON

Other Opinions Handed Down by Supreme Court

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — The supreme court today granted permission to the state to file a petition in error from the ruling of the court of appeals of Cuyahoga county, granting a new trial to Mabel Champion, convicted of the murder of Edward O'Connell, July 26, 1922, in a Cleveland restaurant. Mrs. Champion shot O'Connell who was fighting with her husband. She was indicted for first degree murder but found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to 20 years at the Marietta reformatory.

Judgment for $75,000 damages for the loss of both legs in a railroad accident at Cambridge, allowed by the common pleas court of Cuyahoga county to Victor Miller, Cleveland, against the Toledo, Columbus and Ohio River Railroad Company was sustained today by the supreme court.

The verdict of the common pleas court of Cuyahoga awarding $23,000 personal injury damages to John N. Lansing against the Mason, Tire and Rubber Company was sustained today by the supreme court. Lansing was burned in the explosion of a benzol tank while fighting fire in the plant of the company at Kent.

Ohio chiropractors lost their fight to enjoin the administration of the Ohio Medical act today when the supreme court sustained the action of the common pleas court of Hamilton county in refusing the injunction sought by George D. Meeker. The chiropractors contended the board is without authority to establish standards of preliminary education for applicants for license.

Undisturbed residue of an estate rests in the hands of the executor rather than the heirs of the testator, the supreme court ruled today in construing the will of Edward W. Hanley, late Democratic leader of Dayton. Hanley left the major portion of his quarter million dollar estate to the City Trust and Savings Bank, Dayton, as executor. Mrs. Hanley died before the distribution of the estate. There were no children and her heirs sought to gain possession of the estate on the grounds it had vested in the widow at the death of her husband. Under the ruling of the court the estate will go to the children of Mr. Hanley's dead brother, William, who live in Dayton.

The supreme court today ordered the court of appeals of Summit county to certify to the higher court its record in the suit of citizens of the village of Cuyahoga Falls to enjoin the collection of assessments for street improvements. The lower court allowed the injunction on the ground the assessment exceeded two-thirds the value of the abutting property.

Anna Krusosky, Dayton, must pay a fine of $350 assessed by the municipal court of Dayton for illegal possession of liquor, the supreme court held today.

The preparatory writ issued by the court of appeals of Hamilton county, directing Thomas J. Noctor and the board of elections of Hamilton county to issue a certificate of election to Walter Linchan, elected to the city council of Cincinnati, was affirmed today by the supreme court. Linchan, Republican candidate, received 3,397 votes and his opponent John S. Sheehan, Democrat, received 3,183 votes as the regular Democratic candidate and 521 votes as an independent. The court held the independent votes should not be counted for Sheehan.

Charles Broadway, Lucas, lost his action for damages against the Lucas County Agricultural Society today when the supreme court overruled his motion to order the court of appeals of Lucas county to certify its record. Broadway was kicked by a horse at the Lucas fair.

THREE JUMP FROM WINDOWS TO ESCAPE FIRE

AKRON—Three persons were cut and bruised early this morning when a fire at the home of the late Michael Cybels, curator of St. Peter's Lithuanian Roman Catholic church forced them to leap from second story windows. The curator believes the fire was of incendiary origin, set by enemies of the church, as mysterious fires have damaged three other houses in the parish in the past six months. Two of the other fires have been at the home of the pastor of the church, the Rev. Albina Juansas.

Besides Father Cybels, those who were injured are Helen Mikluska, the housekeeper, and Mary Masinauskas of Dayton who was visiting the housekeeper.

MRS. RICHIE OBSEQUIES — Funeral services for Mrs. Catharine Eaton Richie, who died suddenly Saturday night, were held Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the residence, 606 W. North-st. Rev. Samuel Huecker, pastor of Market Street Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment in the family plot in Woodlawn cemetery.

WORLD EDUCATORS MEET TO PLAN FOR COMING "MENTAL ERA"

(By A. H. FREDERICK.)

SAN FRANCISCO — (Special) — World-wide mobilization of educational force, to establish universal and permanent peace—

Entrance of education upon the world stage as a solver of international evils—

These will be chief among the aims of 50,000 educators from all parts of the globe who meet here and in Oakland June 28 to July 6, for the National Educational Association's world conference on education.

From the Orient and from Europe, from North and South America, from countries tucked away in far corners of the earth, teachers and professors are coming to tackle the problem which has baffled the wisest minds, statesmen, diplomats, politicians of all ages.

Possibilities growing out of the meet are unlimited, according to leaders who have been perfecting plans for the past three years. The proposed peace program will be the first indicating the arrival or non-arrival of a new era, they say.

DOMINANT FORCE — If success on this knottiest of problems shows the new era is here, future progress of the world can be planned intelligently and we will have entered upon the long predicted "mental era," they declare.

Education, established as a dominant controlling force, will yield the world into new shapes with the succeeding generations, each step forward forethought and foreseen, according to these leaders.

The delegates to the meeting will not be confronted with any League of Nations or world court plans. The cure for war, as they will hear it unfolded, rests solely upon a better understanding of our neighbors in "the neighborhood of the world."

Education of the 400,000,000 pupils of the assembled teachers so that each will fully appreciate the human element in every foreign country, forgetting race hatreds and national jealousies, will be the proposed panacea.

Glorification of war will be diminished, without sacrificing love of flag or country. In its place will be proposed an intensive educational campaign to present to youth forcibly the valor and patriotism of peace and peace-time accomplishments for mankind.

Among measures designed to break down national barriers of hatred and suspicion and to instill in the minds of all coming citizens a feeling of friendship and understanding of their international neighbors, the following will be advocated:

Encouragement of correspondence between school children of different nations;

More extensive exchange between nations of teachers in schools and professors in universities;

Study of world civics, covering the essential contracts necessitated by trade, travel, commerce and the exchange of inventions and learning;

Preparation of a series of international readers, presenting a choice of reading material from all nations and selected to truly present the ideas and ideals which each nation deems of universal worth;

Revision of textbooks, eliminating international animosities sometimes carried in present books, and presenting facts in a background calculated to heighten the respects of the people of one nation for those of another.

WORLD HOLIDAY — As a visible token of the "peace era" it will be proposed that a day be set apart each year to be known as "Good Will Day." Upon this day, instructors will hold special exercises to emphasize the love of foreign neighbors and the detriment of war.

The main work of constructing the peace program will be delegated to the world conference on education, a preliminary meeting of 1,000 educators specially selected to carry out this work.

But the whole N. E. A. convention is expected to keep the peace versus war issue ever paramount.

However, other measures, chiefly designed to enhance the value of education, will be discussed. Among them will be:

Request for educational attaches at all embassies and legations as a means of contact between educators of various nations so that each may profit by the experience of others;

Extension of free library service and the practicability of establishing standards for such libraries;

Abolition of illiteracy where it still exists;

Encouragement of thrift, and establishment of more easily accessible schools and churches for farming people.

Both San Francisco and Oakland are planning many entertainments for the visitors. Chief among these will be a "Pageant of All Nations," in which 700 people of different countries, each dressed in his or her national costume, will participate. Miss Margaret M. Krask of San Francisco will be in charge of this pageant and, according to present plans, will herself personify the Goddess of Liberty.

TRAFFIC CHARGES — C. E. Smith, 240 S. Elizabeth-st., arrested for parking his automobile near a fire plug, pleaded guilty and was fined $2. Gene Cattery, who was arrested for reckless driving, pleaded not guilty. He will be tried Thursday at 2 p. m. His bond was placed at $25.

POLICE RECEIVE PROWLERS CALLS

Several Persons Report Mysterious Loiters During Night

Police received several prowler calls during Monday night and early Tuesday morning and although prompt response was made to every report, police failed to find any trace of intruders.

Monday night Mrs. Charles Schwall, 1029 N. Main-st., reported a letter near her house, while later in the night Dr. F. H. Witterbrook, 413 Lincoln-st., also reported there was a suspect in the vicinity of his home.

Mrs. Harold Dirk, 924 S. Elizabeth-st., told police she saw an automobile parked in the street in front of her home and that two flashlights were played on surrounding buildings. Police made a quick run to the place, but found no trace of the car.

Chief Lanker said Tuesday movements of certain persons were being watched.

FEMINISM IN BARNYARD

COFFEYVILLE, Kas.—(Special) — This is not a barnyard fable, but an actual demonstration of the results of chicken feminism. This Buff Orpington rooster, the property of Mrs. W. J. McDermitt, here, brooded and hatched six chicks.

While the hens of his barnyard strut independently around him, he nurses his chicks clucking at them like a mother, yet not forgetting to crow at proper hours.

The rooster was hatched eleven months ago from an incubator. He still manifests some masculine independence, refusing to accept more than 15 chicks at one time.

WOMAN IS FINED

Perence Stamp, 21, of 171 E. Vine-st., was fined $10 and sentenced to 10 days in jail by Judge Jackson in criminal court Tuesday, on a charge of disorderly conduct. The woman, police say, started a family quarrel Monday at her home.

FISH KILLED BY REFUSE, CLAIM

Bluffton People File Complaint With County Healthier

That refuse from a dairy in Bluffton is causing the death of many Allen-co fish was the complaint received Tuesday by Dr. J. J. Sutter on the occasion of his annual sanitary inspection of that village.

The dairy, which is located on the banks of Riley creek, uses the stream as a drainage outlet, according to citizens of Bluffton. Decomposition of waste substances in the water is attended by oxidation which removes the supply of air from the water causing death of fish by the hundreds, it was reported.

Dead fish in the streams come under the provisions of the health commissioner's authority only when they become a menace to health, Sutter stated. Action on the part of the healthier is usually forestalled by a fresher which washes the fish away and revives those near death, citizens assert.

Action to abate the alleged nuisance was referred to the fish and game authorities by Dr. Sutter. Killing of fish in Riley creek has been going on for two years, citizens of Bluffton reported.

Immediate action by Charles Hanes, deputy game warden, will probably be taken to eliminate the useless waste of Allen-co fish, Dr. Sutter said.

Samples of city water from Bluffton and Beaverdam were taken by the health commissioner and Mrs. Anna Mas Fechter, county health nurse.

Conditions in places where food was stored were reported as complying with sanitation demands in most cases. Dr. Sutter said. A total of 22 food stores was inspected by the health commissioner and Mrs. Anna Mas Fechter, county health nurse. Mrs. Fechter made a survey of Spencerville and Landeck Tuesday.

TEACHERS OPEN TAX FIGHT

Revision of Laws Demanded at Cedar Point Convention

WILL FORMULATE PROGRAM

2,000 Instructors Are in Attendance at Meeting

CEDAR POINT — (Associated Press) — Approximately two thousand Ohio school teachers today heard the opening guns fired in a campaign of the State Teachers' Association for revision of the taxation laws as they affect the financing of the educational system.

Through a series of discussions at the annual convention of the body, which opened here today, the association hopes to develop the taxation theories of its members to a point where its legislative branch, the assembly of delegates, may formulate a comprehensive program for school finance at its next meeting in Columbus.

Besides discussing taxation problems by various speakers the teachers will listen to a debate on the merits and shortcomings of the uniform rule system tonight.

While the entire meeting will center upon taxation matters the association, according to its officers, is not expected to take a stand on the proposed referendum on the Galt and Albaugh measures. The organization they say, does not want to become embroiled in a fight which might be converted into a definite political issue.

SUGGESTIONS OFFERED

The opening salvo in the taxation barrage was delivered by State Director of Education Vernon M. Reigel, who offered suggestions for a program of state educational financing, and by Superintendent B. O. Skinner, or the Marietta schools, who spoke of the possibilities of parent teacher associations contributing financial help to the progress of education.

Departmental meetings occupied the teachers during the afternoon, various groups discussing the problems of their own particular work.

The proposition of enacting a state teachers' tenure law—an issue at the last gathering of the association here—was not expected to come up during the present session. Although a bill introduced during the legislative session last winter failed of passage, officers of the association said here was little indication at the fight for its passage would be renewed immediately.

Impartial Investigation in Europe Shows That Peace Is Farther Away Than at the Time Warring Nations Signed Armistice

BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS.

Wounds laid open by the World War are not healing. They have only turned into sores, with nerves exposed and in danger of becoming chronic.

Europe and the world is farther from peace today than they were a year ago and much farther from peace than they were the day the armistice was signed in November, 1918.

All the elements for bringing on a crash of terrifying proportions are present in Europe.

I have just landed back in America after visiting 12 different European countries, where I talked with presidents and chancellors, prime ministers and dictators, generalissimos, business men and just plain folks, and what I heard—not always for publication—from all these is enough to make your flesh creep.

LIFE AIN'T WORTH LIVING WITHOUT IT

EUROPE

LOST ONE PEACE DOVE

There is scarcely a country in Europe where the people are not in a ferment of unrest.

Before the war, Europe had a "Balkans"—a troublesome little war-breeding section down in its southern corner.

Now all Europe is a Balkans. The principal reason why hostilities do not commence at once is that most of the powers are afraid to make the first move, because of their size, or internal conditions, and the rest do not think the moment propitious.

Europe is like a room full of big and little burglars quarrelling over a small amount of swag. The little fellows are afraid to start anything but if somebody throws a brick at the lamp and puts out the light, they are all ready to pitch in, hoping, in the general melee, to get away with something.

The one great yearn of Europe is for peace. The people want to go back to work with a feeling of security—without the canker of fear of war and invasions gnawing at their vitals by day and by night and keeping them from earning their daily bread.

The one great obstacle to peace is the legacy of hate left to every man, woman and child in Europe by the World War. This and the natural suspicion each nation has for any peace project put forward by any other European nation.

The one great need of Europe is for some great moral force to make its presence felt among the hate-and-suspicion-filled countries and point out a road to settlement. As things stand now, there is not a disinterested power among them. Each nation is out for itself and itself alone, and all the rest know it.

The League of Nations has done much good in Europe despite unheard-of handicaps. But it is powerless in this instance for the simple reason that there is not one outstanding member of the league which is not, at the same time, up to its eyebrows in the quarrel itself.

No impartial observer can journey thru Europe as I did, and talk with political leaders over there, all the time retaining a perfectly open mind, without realizing the latent influence the United States has for peace in Europe and the world—in the league or out of it.

Everywhere I have been I have found people watching the United States and trying to guess its next move. Europe is unanimous on one thing at least, and that is if America "had remained in Europe until real peace had come," using her stupend-

ROMANTIC NOVEL HAS SHABBY COAT

(By JAMES W. DEAN)

NEW YORK. (Special).—How fragrant is a hand? Does the fragrance of hands vary like the fragrance of flowers? I wonder!

Several times in "The Autocrat," Pearl Doles Bell's new novel, the hero kisses the beautiful girl's hand and the fragrance of it lingers in his nostrils so that he will never forget it.

Now if it had been a fragrant ham, that would have been a different matter. Hams are frequently fragrant, hands only so for a short period after ablation in toilet water and such fragrance is evanescent.

And on three occasions in the first three chapters of "The Autocrat" the beautiful girl's eyelashes lay like fringed shadows on her cheeks. Of course, a figure of speech as fanciful as that bears repeating, but a third helping is rather stuffing.

On another occasion the beautiful girl contrives a remark to call forth a poetical outburst from the hero. She is disappointed when he doesn't "compare her with a lacy cobweb, the most exquisitely patterned thing in the world," or respond with "a tender something about moonlight and the sparkling sheen of dew spun together with a veil of silver and gold that some way would be made to typify the shimmering personality" of the girl.

Young men, no matter how deeply entrenched in romance, no matter how maudlin they become under a bright moon, simply do not talk that way. When they become that bad off, they aren't able to talk about much except the weather.

These defects in "The Autocrat" are only in surface things, but they give the author's work a shabby exterior. If the author had bothered less with her own little fancies and paid more attention to the affairs of her characters she would have achieved a first-rate book. She has drawn a faithful portrait of a selfish, arrogant girl who finally realizes the meaning of life.

The author accomplishes that moment of revelation with brutal frankness and achieves as dramatic a passage as any recent novel has contained. Her selfish motives frustrated, the futility of her ambitions exposed to her, the arrogant girl cries out, "I'm bad! Shallow! Empty! My mother—she brought me into the world, but she gave me no soul. She didn't want me! And all the time I lay within her, close to her half-mad heart, she was denying my right to be there—fiercely resenting my prenatal demands upon her. I interfered with her pursuit of pleasure. I was an unwelcome burden that could not be left with servants but must needs be carried about obscenely beneath her smart French frocks."

In her madness the girl has attributed to her mother her own attitude toward her own approaching maternity. At this point the story is headed toward a dire climax, but love conquers all in the stereotyped way and the story ends with everybody living happily ever after.

A book that will appeal to romantic women. Men, pass it!

Quoting from "July 8, 1822," a chapter in Christopher Morley's "Powder of Sympathy," I find the text to guide me in reviewing that volume.

The quotation: As a general rule it is wise to avoid writers whose works amuse or delight you.

That is only the half of it, but it suffices. Had I avoided "Powder of Sympathy," I might have covered more ground in reviewing books this week.

This new volume by Morley contains much that is familiar to readers of this column, but in this instance familiarity does not breed contempt. The more you read of the book, the more you want to read of it. And that was more than I could say of his "Where the Blue Begins," which, despite flowery tributes of other reviewers, seemed exceedingly dull.

Dr. Joseph Collins, in a paragraph in his chapter on D. H. Lawrence in "A Doctor Looks on Literature," refers to "Jurgen" along with books written by Lawrence. In reviewing that chapter I referred to Lawrence as the author of "Jurgen." Of course James Branch Cabell is the author of "Jurgen." I wasn't ignorant of the fact of authorship. I simply just didn't recognize the fact at the moment. The embarrassment of the situation lies in not knowing to whom to apologize. Who suffered the greater injury, Cabell or Lawrence?

MESSAGES BARED IN PROBE

Read to Grand Jury Investigating Ward Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. — (Associated Press) — Cablegrams and telegrams passing between members of the family of Walter S. Ward, wealthy baker's son, relative to the blackmail plot which Ward claims was at the bottom of his slaying of Clarence Peters of Haverhill, Mass., were ordered disclosed to the extraordinary grand jury investigating the Peters slaying, in a decision rendered by Supreme Court Justice Wagner today.

Most of the messages in question are said to have been exchanged between Ralph Ward, the confessed slayer's brother and their father, George S. Ward, president of the Ward Baking Company. One, it is said, asked the senior Ward for $50,000 to enable young Ward to meet the demands of blackmailers. It was after these demands were refused, Ward claims, that Peters threatened him with a pistol and he shot Peters in self-defense.

PLEA MADE FOR KIDDIE CAMP

Governor Jackson Tells Kiwanians About Proect

A plea that the Kiwanis kiddie camp be made the best in history and one of real worth was made by District Governor Walter Jackson at the regular weekly meeting held Tuesday noon at the Argonne Hotel. President Eckert told the Kiwanians of their duty to the kiddies and Jackson emphasized it with examples.

Local Kiwanians will attend the inter-club meet of the second division of Ohio to be held at Greenville, Wednesday evening. Kiwanians from this part of Ohio and from several southern points will attend. The local club has received an invitation to attend the opening of the Delphos playground and park. It was mainly thru the efforts of the Delphos Kiwanians that this park was made possible and several Lima Kiwanians will go to Delphos on July 4.

Mrs. Dorothy Davidson, winner of the soprano solo at the Mansfield Eisteddfod, sang her prize winning solo, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Calvert.

START PETITIONS

Lists Circulated for Harley and Breckenridge

Circulation of petitions in behalf of Colonel Jack Harley, storage magnate, and Harry L. Breckenridge, purchasing agent, candidates for second terms as city commissioners, has not been completed, according to Judge Kent Hughes, chairman of the Committee of 200.

Approximately 300 signatures must be had on each petition previous to filing, Judge Hughes said.

"We are getting names of voters in all sections of the city," he declared, "contrary to reports that all our signers are residents of the exclusive west end section."

Judge Hughes stated that the petitions will be filled within a few days and will then be filed at the board of elections office.

Circulation of petitions for independent candidates is scheduled to begin within a few days. All commissioner petitions must be filed before July 15, or 30 days prior to the date of the primary.

PEGGY JOYCE MAY WED TELLEGEN

NEW YORK — (United Press) — Lou Tellegen, about to be divorced from Geraldine Farrar, and Peggy Hopkins Joyce, herself a figure of several immortal romances, may find in each other the solace of an overpowering passion, once Lou is free. At least so Peggy says.

The Titan-haired beauty for whom three infatuated lovers are reported to have slain themselves, announced to the world that she and Tellegen are "hopelessly" in love, and plan to wed.

"Tall, polished and so handsome," was Peggy's version of the matinee idol. "He's the perfectly manly type I've always wanted," she cried.

Lou, on the road, hasn't told his side of it yet, but upon being notified that the referee had declared in favor of Gerry's suit for divorce, he was known to exclaim:

"Love is everything."

BARRYMORE SUES FOR DIVORCE

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — (United Press) — Ethel Barrymore, famous actress, has filed suit here for divorce from Russel G. Colt, son of the late Colonel Samuel P. Colitt, millionaire rubber manufacturer.

The Colts were married in 1909. They have three children who are now said to be with their mother.

Rumors of action looking to a separation, have been heard since 1911. The romance began when young Colt, then a student at Yale, was introduced to Miss Barrymore by her brother, John.

Preliminary hearing on the suit will begin here next week.

GOING AWAY? TELL POLICE

WILL you be absent from home during the summer? If you are going away for your vacation or for the week-end or just over night, call police headquarters, MAIN 4024, and tell the officer in charge. Then men will be detailed to watch your premises during your absence.

This plan was adopted some time ago by Chief Lanker and is particularly valuable to Lima residents at present in view of the large number of robberies being committed.

YOUR VACATION

TAKE a vacation, no matter how hard it may be to find time for one, this summer. Change is absolutely necessary to rest the nerve centers. And the city person should make it a point to take his vacation in the country, while the farmer and those who spend their lives on farms or in small towns should come to the city.

This excellent advice comes from Health Commissioner Mahoney of Boston.

MOST of us are suffering, in varying degrees, from "nerves," a malady created by the hustle and rush of civilization—and it is increasing in frequency and intensity as we become more "civilized," whatever that means.

We of the cities are keyed up highly. We work under great nervous pressure, speeded up to the last ounce of energy. And we get the clock wound so tightly that we remain keyed up when away from work.

We rush about the streets as if going to a fire

We gulp our meals.

We sit down at home after dinner and immediately become restless—begin drumming our fingers, wanting to "start something."

Maybe we go to a theater or movie. Impatient to get past the people in line ahead of us. So restless that we can't keep our seats until the final curtain drops or the picture ends. That's why musical shows come to an abrupt ending. They have to. No one would be left in the house if the show ended peacefully and artistically.

All this is "nerves." Its imprint is on our strained faces, in our keyed-up walking or auto driving, in our general impatience.

WHEN a person has a nervous breakdown, the first thing the physician recommends is "a change." The best kind of a change is a complete one. So Mahoney is right. The city man should vacation in the country. The farmer and small-town resident should vacation in the city.

Contrast is a nerve restorative. It is informative, broadens our vision, restores our balance, gives us the proper perspective. What does your most good on a vacation is the "change," rather than the air or rest or recreation. And, the more complete the change, the more recuperative.

The brain worker, for the same reason, will do best by spending his holidays where he'll have physical labor to do—preferably camping chores. And the man who works with his muscles can get the greatest vacation benefits by giving his muscles a rest and exercising his brain, reading, thinking.

A good rule, is Mahoney's, and it can be applied in everyday life as well as during vacations. By complete "change"—doing the opposite of your routine—you can get at least an hour's vacation every day.

WATCH YOUR MONEY!

THERE are perhaps very few Lima people who number among their worldly possessions $1,000 bills, but if perchance there should be, 'twill be well for them to watch close.

For there are counterfeit notes of that denomination in circulation, the secret service has warned. These banknotes are said to be excellent imitations of the real thing.

Considering the trouble anyone would have in "passing" a $1,000 bill, either good or bad, this particular counterfeit is about the last word in ambition. However, he got rid of at least one, but had to send it to England.

On this job he devoted time and ability that would have been worth five or more times as much, applied to a legitimate pursuit. That's the fallacy of "successful" crime.

IVY POISONING

Every one who reads knows how to cure a cold in one day, which seems to be exceedingly fast work, for it takes me that long to make even a tentative diagnosis of what really ails the poor chap who thinks he has a cold. The diagnosis of what purports to be a cold reveals many possibilities of adversity, and once one gets a line on the case, the treatment is very gay indeed.

With ivy poisoning it is just the reverse. The diagnosis—well, the patient simply announces he has ivy poisoning and—What's good for it? That is, he announces he has it, then without any consultation save perhaps a meekly blank, asks for surcease. He makes no attempt to say "please." When I had the itch, I really was quite busy for a while—not seven years, but several hours. But I discovered, summer before last, that I had never till then known how to get rid of the downright bug. That was when I encountered Pops toxcodendron by the lake. So I don't blame the victim of this pest—a is a plant, all right—for omitting precaution.

There are three methods of treating ivy poisoning, namely, prevention, cure and relief.

The prevention of ivy poisoning comprises two lines of procedure. First is the avoidance of the individual against the poison. This is effected by internal administration of very minute but gradually increasing doses of a tincture of rhus toxicodendron (poison ivy) at the beginning of each summer season. Second, the application of protective such as ordinary lard or allowed to dry on the exposed skin, or smearing the exposed skin with ordinary (petrolatum) or even can grease before coming in contact with poison ivy and prolonged bathing with frequent changes of soapy water immediately afterward.

Cure of the poisoning is most quickly obtained by the intramuscular injection of an exceedingly minute amount of rhus toxicodendron. This usually brings surcease to the itching within 24 hours; one or two injections at 24 hour intervals, will usually cure the attack within three or four days. This is good homeopathic treatment, of course this treatment can be safely given only by a physician.

For relief of ivy poisoning repeated bathing with many changes of soapy tepid water, or with solutions of saleratus in the strength of a tablespoonful to the quart of tepid water, or large dressings kept wet with such solutions, are good in the earlier stage. For the itching frequent patting on with the fingers of the well known calamine lotion is soothing. Calamine lotion consists of two drams each of calamine zinc oxide, glycerin and borax, and two ounces each of rose water, lime water and 5 per cent phenol solution (one to 20 carbolic solution). After the acute stage has passed,

SWEET THEIR REST

Sweet is the rest of those who lie Under the grass and the open sky. Pain no more shall come to them. The life of censure are dumb to them. Sorrow nor hurt nor shame may touch The breasts of those whom we loved so much; Age has lost them the same as we, Always beautiful now they'll be.

Safe are the souls of those who sleep Where the trees are kind and the grass is deep.

Never a care may find them there, Never a fever may bind them there; Those who are living must shed their tears, Bear the weight of the heavy years, Lose their beauty and suffer pain, But never the dead shall sigh again.

Mourn you not for the ones who lie Under the grass and the open sky. Never shall sin crawl near to them, Never shall terror bring fear to them:

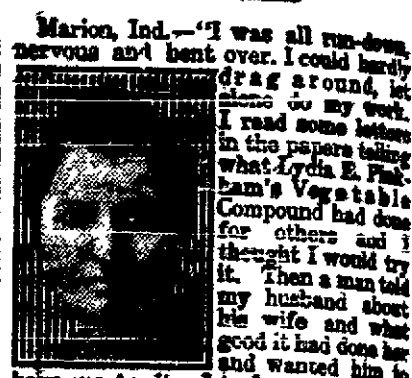

They have gone home to the God above,

Sheltered now in His boundless love From all that maketh men's misery, Always beautiful now they'll be.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WORK

Gained Strength, Weight and Now Doing Own Work, by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Marion, Ind.—"I was all run-down, nervous and bent over. I could hardly drag around. I read some letters in the papers telling me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I thought I would try it. Then a man told me my husband about the wife and what good it had done her and wanted him to have me try it. I took one bottle and could see what it did for me in a week's time, and when I had taken three bottles I had gained both in strength and weight and was doing my own work. I took it before my last baby was born and it helped me so much. I sure am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who suffers from female ailments, for I know by experience what it can do. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, also the Liver Pills, too, and think very fine."—Mrs. Wm. Eldridge, 620 E. Grant Street, Marion, Indiana.

A record of nearly fifty years service should convince you of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

The flavor's great—the prize is small.

$1,000.00 in cash! To be given to the 165 folks who can write the best jingles on Mapl-Flake. All you need to do to enter the contest is to write a jingle—telling how good Mapl-Flake is and how good it is for you. Send it in, and you stand just as good a chance as anyone to win the big $250 first prize. Every jingle will be judged strictly on its merits.

Eat a big bowl of Mapl-Flake just once, and you'll know how good it is. Eat it every morning and you'll soon learn how good it is for you!

Mapl-Flake is the whole wheat flake with all the bran left in. Enough bran to make a harmless, natural "regulator" that keeps the whole digestive tract swept clean. In addition to the bran you have a well balanced food, full of nourishment. Mapl-Flake is rich in phosphorus and lime for building sturdy bones, and mineral salts for making good red blood.

It's so tasty, has such fine flavor, you forget about having to "take bran" as a duty—you eat it as a pleasure. Get Mapl-Flake from your grocer, today. Then write a jingle and send it to the Contest Manager, Armour Grain Company, Chicago, Illinois.

ACTOR'S GOOD BEHAVIOR IS AID TO CAMERAMAN

(BY GERTRUDE GILLHAM)
It's good advice for a swimmer to see his sweetheart in kitchen apron as well as party dress before popping the question, it's equally good precaution for the movie producer to test a potential star on "location" before making contractual engagement. For it isn't acting ability of the player alone that makes the wheels of the camera run smooth.

Renee Adoree is the inspiration for this preamble on the acid test of temperament, and Louis B. Mayer our exemplar of wisdom in the premises.

There is perhaps no sharper revelation of character and disposition of screen folk, women especially, than their behavior on wilderness location. Deprivation of accustomed comforts, petty annoyances, real hardships often, quickly bring out native traits.

These traits have a calculable financial equivalent in picture production. They may affect the purse of the promoter quite as much as the career of the player. Hence the prudence of the ordeal-by-location from the standpoint of the man who signs the checks.

Renee Adoree demonstrated her mettle during weeks of semi-primitive life in the making of Reginald Barker's production of "The Master of Woman" for Mayer. Much of the film was shot in snow-blanketed Canadian wilds, with the company facing temper-trying exactions.

Donning her first snowshoe, Miss Adoree trudged 14 miles a day to and from work, which lasted from dawn often to midnight. She swam in icy water. Suffered painful snow burn. Shivered in blizzard weather. Accepted without a whimper what the director, location manager, cook and the elements provided.

"She was the only one in the whole company who didn't 'crab'."

said a member of the company as Miss Adoree ate chile con carne, very hot, to thaw the frost of her recent experiences.

It was this evidence of a disciplined nature, even temper and unflinching optimism, as well as her excellent handling of the role of the trading post mix in "The Master of Woman," just completed, which led Mayer to sign her for a five-year contract.

Miss Adoree, 25, of French and Spanish lineage, has been in pictures for a year. She is the daughter of a French circus clown, and grew up in the wagons of a traveling show. For 10 years she was a circus performer, wandering thru four nations. From Belgium, during the German invasion, she and her family fled to the coast by concealing themselves in a baggage car, and thus reached England, where she began a stage career lasting for nine years in London, Australia and New York. She is the wife of Tom Moore, the actor.

"My home has been the world," she says, "and it hasn't pampered me very much. I know that you get what you give, and that the measure of the gift is its graciousness."

Miss Adoree is a striking figure, even among Hollywood's bevy of beauties. In her black hair, arresting gray eyes, wide cheeks, mobile mouth, are elusive suggestions of Mary Pickford, Pauline Frederick and Betty Compson. But her charm is as distinctive as her personality—the sort of girl casting directors remember but find difficult to classify.

For her graces, French audiences, quick to label character with a nickname, dubbed her "the adored one." Her studio associates here have confirmed it with the title "good scout"—tribute to the "girl who never crabs."

Double Bill Offered At Sigma Theatre This Week

A treat is in store for theatre-goers in search of keen entertainment at the Sigma theatre where a double bill of 14 reels is the attraction until Saturday.

"Too Much Business," starring Edward Horton is the comedy film and is filled with laughs thru the entire seven reels.

The story revolves around John Henry Jackson, who is in love with Myra Dalton the private secretary of his employer. Myra is a very business-like girl and John Henry induces her to sign a thirty day option agreeing to marry him if he doubles his salary in that time. Learning of this agreement, Comby who is determined not to lose his efficient secretary, discharges Jackson. One month later we find Jackson the proprietor of the "Hostellerie des Emments,"—"a parking place for the children of busy mothers." He is ready to claim Myra. At the same time, a big firm offers to consolidate with Comby on the condition that John Henry be made general manager. Comby offers to buy John Henry but the latter refuses. Comby then sets out to put him out of business by various ingenious methods. Jackson finally gets and comes to Comby raging only to find he is too become general manager of the consolidation. And Myra Dalton is only too glad to have the option taken up.

Alfred Grey Terry has the role of Myra Dalton, Edward Dalton as John Henry and Tully Marshall as Amos Comby.

Supported by a cast of genuine excellence, Anita Stewart has produced a picture of real heart interest and general appeal in "The Woman He Married" the second feature on the Sigma bill. It is the story of an artist's model whose marriage to a millionaire's son brings down upon the pair the wrath of the irate father, entrained for the commercial world, the boy finds it impossible to support his wife, but she is loyal, determined to win his father's respect.

MRS. A. T. MACDONELL opened her home, 631 W. Market-st., Tuesday afternoon, for a delightfully informal affair, commencing Miss Mary Longworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Longworth, whose marriage to John Breese, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Breese, will be an event of Saturday. Nearly half a hundred guests, members of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. Longworth is president, and the Perseverance class with their home department, enjoyed the hospitality of the Macdonell home, which was attractively decorated with garden flowers of every description.

During the afternoon, a musical program was given by children and grand-children of several of the women present. Appearing on the program were Mary and Elizabeth Baxter, pianists, Harry Fields and David Meilly, pianist, who gave an original composition. A feature of the afternoon's entertainment was a miscellaneous shower for the honored guest, who was also presented with an artistic bridal bouquet.

A buffet tea was served at 4:30 o'clock, pink and white predominating in the appointments. Mrs. Macdonell was assisted in serving by Mary and Elizabeth Baxter.

In compliment to Miss Blanche McMullen of Kansas City, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wetherill, S. Chas. and Miss Ruth Landick of Washington, D. C., the Misses Mary Louise Edwards and Mary Bentley are entertaining at luncheon at the Shawnee Country club on Wednesday. Covers will be laid for twenty.

Miss Helen Hughes, Lakewood-av., has as her house-guest, Miss Katherine Lazear of Mt. Vernon. Miss Hughes and Miss Lazear were roommates last year at the Western College for Women, Oxford.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

WE are two young married women of 19 years of age. We are coming to you for advice. We have been married for two years. We have no children. We have wonderful husbands. They are good to us in every way. We met two fellows and fell in love with them right away. In fact we went out with them, and they were very nice. They seemed to care for us also. We told them we were married, but they said we had a clean, jolly good time. Do you think we should continue going with them or give them up? We do not know if we could give them up or not. When we are with them, we forget the whole world, including our husbands, when we are with our husbands, we forget them. Now Miss Smart, which do you think we should do? We feel that we should give them up but we get so lonesome we feel we must see them. What should we do? Please give us your opinion and we will follow your advice.

OUR letter surprises me. I have always thought heretofore that women who were old enough to be married generally use common sense in the conduct of their affairs and surely you two are not employing much common sense. You say that when you are with your husbands, you forget these other men. Why not forget your husbands?

My advice to you, girls, is to forget these young men and love and be true to your own husbands. You are doing your husbands a great wrong and if your conduct is continued it can only result in shame and humiliation for you.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a reader of your column and saw a letter a few days ago, asking for a recipe for burning berries the cold way. I am sending you the one I have. Wash berries in hot water and shake down carefully. Fill each jar with berries, with hot syrup, but rubber and top in place. Set the jars in a wash boiler on a false bottom, surrounding with water and let until they are thoroughly heated. This will take from 16 to 20 minutes. Directions to make syrup: Use a pound of sugar to two and a half large cups of water. This can be varied to suit the case; more sugar can be added.

The above receipts are for cherries and berries.

MRS. B. L. I am sure the woman who asked for the above receipts will appreciate you helping her.

Dear Miss Smart: We are two girls, age 14 and 17 years. Are we too young to go with boys? Are we too young to go to dances alone? Is a girl years too young to go with a man and see what is the distance from Lima to Toledo? How is it visiting?

BROWN EYES AND BLUE EYES.

Young girls should not go about with young men until they are at least 16 years of age. Yes, Yes, Seventy-two miles. Not very good.

MIDDLE NAME IS "FREAK"

MADISON, Wis. (Special)—Nope! There's nothing wrong with this picture. Pete's a rooster and all that. Likewise he's a champ layer.

Residing in royal pen at the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station here in cockiest manner he proclaims to the whole cock-eyed world that the quality of his eggs is beyond compare. Pete is by no means the first egg-laying rooster on record.

History recounts similar creatures dating back to the Middle Age which aroused the suspicions of the simple folk of the countryside.

Science investigating the phenomenon attributes the monstrosity to a psychological change in Pete's hen nature during the time of molt which caused him to take on rooster plumage and adopt a crowing war cry instead of his former modest cackle.

Ain't nature grand? You said it.

SEASON'S FADS AND FANCIES EASILY MADE WHILE FILLING IN IDLE HOURS

(By MARIAN MALE)
NEW YORK. (Special)—Vacation days need not necessarily be idle days. Many a woman prefers to have some bit of sewing or knitting to occupy her fingers during those afternoons when the porch seems the only livable spot.

There are many smart accessories now, easily made, that not only furnish up the summer frocks and give style to the organdies or crepes that are losing their freshness, but also afford pleasant summer pastimes.

Fancy bandeaux for the hair, composed of ribbon, flowers and perky bows require only a few stitches and they are ever so attractive.

The craze for bracelets has revived the old fashion of black velvet bands for the wrist or above the elbow with trimmings of fancy buckles or clusters of flowers.

WRIST BANDS

One New York debutante has popularized the fad of wearing an inch wide velvet band tightly about each wrist, fastened with a pink satin rose. She wears these with sleeveless frocks and the effect is charming.

Another fad is for corsages, worn directly in the front, made of cascades of flowers and colored ribbons, almost resembling the bridal shower bouquet.

The matching jacket and hat of gay cretonne is a very smart accessory to any costume, and it one makes the coat sleeves, the question of fit is greatly modified.

HANDPAINTED HATS

Handpainted hats are very smart and easy to make. Simply buy a white or colored felt hat, with a small water color brush and a little oil paint or dye, transpose thereon your favorite flowers. If you prefer conventional designs, stick to angles and lines. To show your interest in the recent Egyptian excavations, you can copy an Egyptian motif.

If you are afraid of your free hand efforts, stencils will make the work much simpler. You can make your stencils or buy them.

Slipper buckles are made of lace and ribbon arranged rosette fashion about clusters of flowers or buckles set with brilliants. Beaded stockings are quite a fad and are easily made. Steel beads are very effective as well as colors to match the frocks. Dame Fashion is well equipped to furnish work for idle hands.

One of the users of the Utenco Ironing Machine said: I like it because of its unlimited ironing capacity. It turns out beautiful work very rapidly and besides it occupies so little room and can be so easily moved that I hardly know it is in the house until I want to use it. Now I couldn't iron without it. Look at the open end design. This is the reason for the Utenco Ironing Machine successfully doing 100% of the laundry work just like hand-work. # THE RED REDMAYNES

BY EDWIN PHILPOTTS

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Mark Brendon, famous criminal investigator, is taking holiday on Dartmoor and is engaged by Jenny Pendean to solve the mystery of her husband's disappearance. Michael Pendean is last seen in the company of Jenny's uncle, Robert Redmayne, when the two go to work on a new bungalow for the Pendean near Fogginstor Quarry. Blood is found on the floor of the cottage and several witnesses testify to seeing Robert Redmayne riding away on his motor bicycle with a heavy sack behind the saddle.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
An hour later Mark Brendon had packed a bag and started in a police motor car for Paignton.

He called at Robert Redmayne's lodgings after he had eaten some supper at the Singer Hotel. There he had taken a room, that he might see and hear something of the vanished man's future wife and her family. At No. 7 Marine Terrace the landlady, a Mrs. Medway, could say little. Captain Redmayne was a genial, kind-hearted, but hot-headed gentleman, she told Mark. Brendon examined the motor bicycle with meticulous care. There was a rest behind the saddle made of iron bars, and here he detected stains of blood. A fragment of tough string tied to the rest was also stained.

Later in the day Brendon returned to his hotel and introduced himself to Miss Reed and her family to find that her brother, Robert Redmayne's friend, had returned to London. She and her parents were sitting together in the lounge when he joined them. All three appeared to be much shocked and painfully mystified. None could throw any light. Mr. and Mrs. Reed were quiet, elderly people who kept a draper shop in London; their daughter revealed more character.

"Did you ever hear Captain Redmayne speak of his niece and her husband?" Brendon inquired, and Flora Reed answered:
"He did; and he always said that Michael Pendean was a 'shirker' and a coward. He also assured me that he had done with his niece and should never forgive her for marrying her husband. But that was before Bob went to Princetown, six days ago. From there he wrote quite a different story. He had met her by chance and he found that Mr. Pendean had not shirked but had done good work in the war and got the O. B. E."

"You have neither seen nor heard of the captain since?"
"Indeed, no. My last letter, which you can see, came three days ago. In it he merely said he would be back yesterday and meet me to bathe as usual. I went to bathe and looked out for him, but of course he didn't come."

"Tell me a little about him, Miss Reed," said Mark. "Captain Redmayne, I hear, had suffered from shell shock and a breath of poison gas also. Did you ever notice any signs that these troubles had left any mark upon him?"
"Yes," she answered. "We all did. My mother was the first to point out that Bob often repeated himself."

"Was he a man you can conceive of as capable of striking or killing a fellow creature?"
The lady hesitated.
"I only want to help him," she answered. "Therefore I say that, given sufficient provocation, I can imagine Bob's temper flaring out, and I can see that it would have been possible to him, in a moment of passion, to strike down a man. He had been much death and was himself absolutely indifferent to danger. I can imagine him doing an enemy, or fancied enemy, a hurt; but when I cannot imagine him doing is what he is supposed to have done afterward—evade the consequences of a mistaken act."

"And yet we have the strongest testimony that he has tried to conceal a murder—whether committed by himself, or somebody else, we cannot yet say."

"I only hope and pray, for all our sakes, that you will find him," she replied, "but if, indeed, he has been betrayed into such an awful crime, I do not think you will find him."
"Why not, Miss Reed? But I think I know. What is in your mind has already passed thru my own. The thought of suicide."

She nodded and put her handkerchief to her eyes.
Mark Brendon thanked her for her information and repeated his growing conviction that the subject of their speech had probably committed suicide.

For two days the detective remained at Paignton and devoted all his energy, invention, and experience to the task of discovering the vanished man.

Then Brendon prepared to return to Princetown. He wrote his intention to Mrs. Pendean and informed her that he would visit Station Cottage on the following evening. It happened, however, that his letter crossed another and his plans were altered, for Jenny Pendean had already left Princetown and joined Mr. Bendigo Redmayne at his house, "Crow's Nest," beyond Dartmouth. She wrote:

"My uncle has begged me to come and I was thankful to do so. I have to tell you that Uncle Bendigo received a letter yesterday from his brother, Robert. I begged him to let me send it to you instantly, but he declines. Uncle Bendigo is on Captain Redmayne's side I can see. He would not, I am sure, do anything to interfere with the law, but he is convinced that we do not know all there is to be told about this terrible thing. The motor boat from 'Crow's Nest' will be at Kingswear Ferry to meet the train reaching there at two o'clock tomorrow and I hope you may still be at Paignton and able to come here for a few hours."

She added a word of thanks to him and a regret that his holiday was being spoiled by her tragedy.

CHAPTER IV

A Clue

A motor boat lay off Kingswear Ferry when Mark Brendon arrived. She was painted white and furnished with teak. Her brasses and machinery glittered; the engines and steering wheel were set forward, while aft of the cabins and saloon an awning was rigged over the stern. The solitary sailor who controlled the launch was in the act of furling this protection against the sun as Mark descended to the water; and while the man did so, Brendon's eyes brightened, for a passenger already occupied the boat; a woman sat there and he saw Jenny Pendean.

The boat was speedy and she soon slipped out between the historic castles that stood on either bank of the entrance to the harbor. Mrs. Pendean pointed to the man in the bows. He sat upright with his back to them at the wheel forward. He had taken off his hat and was singing very gently to himself, but hardly loud enough to be heard against the drone of the engines. His song was from an early opera of Verdi.

"Have you noticed that man?"
Mark shook his head.
"He is an Italian. He comes from Turin but has worked in England for some time."

She called to the boatman.
"Stand out a mile or so, Doris," she said. "I want Mr. Brendon to see the coast line."

"Aye, aye, ma'am," he answered and altered their course for the open sea.

He had turned at Jenny Pendean's voice and shown Mark a brown, bright, clean-shorn face of great beauty.

"Giuseppe Doris has a wonderful story about himself," continued Mrs. Pendean. "Uncle Ben tells me that he claims descent from a very ancient family and is the last of the Doris of—I forget—some place near Ventimiglia."

The boat turned west presently, passed a panorama of cliffs and little bays with sandy beaches, and anon skirted higher and sterner precipices, which leaped six hundred feet aloft.

Perched among them like a bird's nest stood a small house with windows that blinked out over the Channel. It rose to a tower room in the midst, and before the front there stretched a plateau, whereon stood a flagstaff and spar, from the point of which fluttered a red ensign.

The motor launch slowed down and presently grounded her bow on the pebbles. The Doris popped the engine, flung a gangway stage ashore, and stood by to hand Jenny Pendean and the detective to the beach. The place appeared to have no exit; but, behind a ledge of rock, stairs carved in the stone wound upward, guarded by an iron handrail. Jenny led the way and Mark followed her until two hundred steps were climbed and they stood on the terrace above.

It was fifty yards long and covered with sea gravel. Two little brass cannons thrust their muzzles over the parapet to seaward and the central space of grass about the flagpole was neatly surrounded with a decoration of scallop shells.

"Could anybody but an old sailor have created this place?" asked Brendon.

A middle-aged man with a telescope under his arm came along the terrace to greet them. Bendigo Redmayne was square and solid with the cut of the sea about him. His uncovered head blazed with flaming, close-clipped hair and he wore also a short, red beard and whiskers growing grizzled. But his long upper lip was shaved. He had a weather-beaten face—ruddy and deepening to purple about the cheek bones—with eyebrows, rough as bent grass, over deep-set, sulky eyes of reddish brown. His mouth was underhung, giving him a pugnacious and bad-tempered appearance. Nor did his looks appear to belie the old sailor. To Brendon, at any rate, he showed at first no very great consideration.

"You've come I see," he said, shaking hands. "No news?"
"None, Mr. Redmayne."

"Well, well! To think Scotland Yard can't find a poor soul that's gone off his rocker!"
"You might have helped us to do so," said Mark shortly. "If it's true that you've had a letter from your brother."

"I'm doing it, ain't I? It's here for you."

"You've lost two days."

selfish, mother? Of course you and dad are not, but then I never thought of you as old. But all other people who are over sixty have seemed to me to be trying not only to live their own lives the way they want to live but to make everyone with whom they come in contact live lives according to the plans which old people lay down. They never seem to understand that the world moves and we are now on the ascendant while they are shuffling off. Sounds terrible, doesn't it, but I guess we young people are franker than the last generation.

Mrs. Prescott (I can't for the life of me call her "mother") is determined to dislike me and in this she is aided and abetted by that narrow-minded, gossiping old maid, Priscilla Bradford, who I know wanted to marry Jack herself, and who considers that I vamped Jack into marrying me.

A fat chance she would have had of marrying John Alden Prescott even if I had never met him, mother dear!

No one was at the train to meet me, but of course I hardly expected that. However, I was surprised to be met at the door by Mrs. Prescott, arrayed in her best black silk and other garments of state.

I choked a little as I said, "I presume you are better," and she answered with much dignity, "I think I know what is due my daughter-in-law on her first visit. I have probably arisen from my death-bed to greet you."

Letter from Leslie Prescott to Her Mother, Mrs. Joseph Graves Hamilton.

DEAR MOTHER:
I don't know whether to laugh or to cry, but honestly, mother dear, I never knew there were such cantankerous old ladies in all the world. Between you and me, I don't believe John's mother is sick at all. She is just a selfish old woman. She wants everyone at her beck and call.

Are all old people more or less

GROSS WINS DECISION; YOUNG SCORES KAYO

Brown Of New York
Bows To Limaite

Jackie Gross, Lima lad snuffed victoriously for twelve nerve racking rounds, to lose Frankie Brown, New Yorker, in the dust the two raised while they pranced around a grimy ring at the Murphy Baseball Park, Monday night.

And as a reward for exerting himself, the judges gave the Lima lad a clean victory over the easterner.

Brown might have talked himself into a draw had he chosen the right words, but it seems his wit failed to appeal to those who served up the verdict.

The battle was the feature of a boxing card which fans unanimously ranked the best of the season. Gross, Harry McPherson and a juvenile who styled himself Young Rising, took honors on awards Sammy Hess of Ft. Wayne and Aleck Simms of Canton smiled at each other when the judge refused to acknowledge either the winner.

And Red Young—the scarlet-topped battler who has been training for past few weeks in a boiler shop punched Battling McCoy of Springfield, on the jaw. When McCoy awoke from the stupor into which Young's caresses had stunned him, he thought the fight hadn't yet begun.

"Where is he?" the Springfield scrapper demanded as he suddenly regained consciousness.

"Getting dressed," came the answer McCoy walked meekly out of the ring.

Fans are still puzzling over the Gross-Brown battle, until an early hour. As we go to press, the mystery which enveloped the battle remains unsolved.

Can it be that the New Yorker is made of adamant, that sledge hammer blows can have less effect upon his rhinoceros like hide than pins on the skin of an elephant?

Gross faced the dapper little Broadway dude, a wicked gleam in his fighting eye. Brown giggled and Gross led Letts found lodging in Brown's jaw. Rights rung loudly on his chin. Once the New Yorker's eye looked as if it were to close. For two rounds it looked as tho the chap was a "set up" for Lima's pride.

The third opened differently, however. Brown lifted lefts this time, and Gross' face bore evidence of marked punishment. Brown took the round and seemed to have been inspired by the minute victory. The bell sounded and Brown edged back to his corner for a momentary rest.

"Whew, but it's a long way to go," he yelled to the crowd. "And it's hot."

From then on the battle was a series of clinches in which the dapper lad from the east counted many an effective point. His lightning fore told Gross' clinch, and may be the solution of the mystery, for the blows were of sufficient weight to weaken any individual.

Gross' staying power was apparently taxed to the limit. His stomach, reddened by the punches administered during the clinches, will probably rebel at even the thought of food, for many an hour to come, yet his powerful arms were not affected in the slightest degree.

Smashing blows continually found their way to Brown's face and body. They lacked the necessary weight, however, to place Brown permanently on the floor. Once Brown's lip began to bleed, but his seconds effectively stemmed the flow. Gross was less fortunate. A thrust to the nose caused a sanguine deluge; an uppercut had left a trickle of blood.

Through the battle, the Lima boy was the leader of the scrapping. But the staying power, and perhaps the loquacity of the ringsophisticated easterner, was a coat of armor, and the expected knockout remained only to be dreamed of.

It was Gross' aggressiveness which probably won him the decision. Brown continually hung back and awaited the rushes of the Lima lad. Once they bore him thru the ropes; twice they looked as tho they might force him to the floor, but never did they seem to worry him.

Clinches marked the fight throughout. And the shuffling feet of the battlers raised clouds of dust which hung heavy over the improvised arena. And from it all came the decision for Gross.

Fans were surprised at the comparative slowness with which Gross battled Monday night. Customarily the lad is a streak of lightning. His flashiness, however, was evidenced only in occasional spurts which resulted in points for him. Brown, ever conversational and smiling, mentioned a weakened arm, after the scrap. He might have reserved some of the energy he used in casting clever remarks to the spectators in strengthening the arm. It might have speeded the battle.

Earlier in this account, we mentioned this bout as the feature of the card. Apologies, similar to those offered by Jack Beall, an announcer, are hereby duly recorded.

To Red Young should go the real laurels of the evening, for he took three solid blows from Battling McCoy of Springfield, then got mad and dropped the downstate like a rock. Three lefts from the boiler-maker did the work, and yet which resounded thru the vicinity greeted the victor.

In The Training Camps

GREAT FALLS, Mont. — Refreshed from a day of relaxation, Jack Dempsey today starts the final week of training before the period of "drying out" for his championship match with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, July 4.

The champion will resume boxing in his outdoor ring this afternoon, going 4 to 6 rounds with his lighter sparring partners. That will be the schedule until Sunday, according to Manager Jack Kearns and the jarring Dempsey punches will be playing "possum" from now until they defend their owners' title in the ring against the St. Paul challenger.

Dempsey is starting his last training period in the best of spirits. The goochy, touchy atmosphere which usually has surrounded the champion within this distance of his previous title bouts is lacking.

"He is hitting harder and boxing with more speed," Kearns said. "In fact, Dempsey is a better fighter today than he ever was. He is a finished fighter and is ready for Gibbons."

This opinion also is held by critics who watched Dempsey in training. Dempsey spent a day of complete idleness yesterday.

SHELBY, Mont. — Interrupting the rigid training regime he has followed during the last week despite rain and cold weather, Tom Gibbons, contender for Jack Dempsey's title, tested today. His morning hike, and calisthenics were his only muscle stretchers. Late today he will occupy the mound for the Gibbons Athletic Club team which is to meet the Shelby nine in a ball game.

The rest is being taken by the

One of the prettiest weddings of the month of June took place Tuesday morning at St. John's Catholic church when Miss Hazel King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. King, became the bride of Otto Weger, son of Mrs. Adam Duport. The ceremony occurred at eight o'clock. Rev. Father Hilary Weger received the vows.
The bride's dress was of white satin back romanian crepe. She carried a bouquet of roses. Miss Laura King, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and was dressed in coral. Miss Gertrude Schaffer, a niece of the groom, was bridesmaid and she wore white taffeta, with hat to match.
The bride was accompanied to the altar by her father, Carl Schaffer, nephew of the groom, and Charles Wulffshout, cousin of the bride, were ushers. George King, cousin of the bride, was groomsmen.
A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom, W. Second-st. A reception took place at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate relatives.

VAN WERT JURIST SETS PRECEDENT

Judge Blachly Gives Divorce Ruling in Putnam-co Court

Judge H. W. Blachly, of Van Wert, set a precedent in Putnam-co common pleas court when he announced from the bench Tuesday he would refuse to grant a divorce to any person who had matrimony with another in view.
In hearing the testimony of Mrs. Hazel Urban, of Elipsic, who is seeking a divorce from George Urban, of Toledo, Judge Blachly obtained from Mrs. Urban a promise that she did not expect to re-marry.
The judge's decision will be given later.
Mrs. Urban testified that her husband's mother did all that she could to cause trouble in the family and that she cooked a good meal and invited her son to eat at her home in Toledo, while Mrs. Urban and son, Jackie, 5, ate beans and coarse food provided by the city of Toledo as charity.
The couple separated while they were living in Toledo.
She said that in her extremity she had taken in washings to support herself, her husband and Jackie, whose custody she asked.
Urban was present in court and withdrew his counter action for divorce and Jackie's custody. He did not contest the case.

SHORT SHAVINGS

James Anderson, Wapakoneta druggist, fell off of a stapladder while putting up window screens at his home.

He landed in a rose bush. "They say every rose has a thorn," Anderson commented. "That's a low estimate," he added. "The roses on this bush had about 1,000 thorns each."

Mel Light, attorney, placed three waste baskets around his desk in his office, so he would have one ready whichever way he turned.

"There's such a thing as overdoing it," reports a friend. "When he got up hastily to answer the telephone he forgot the waste baskets with the result that he stepped into two of them and fell over the third."

Reed Winegardner, attorney, attending the auto races at Indianapolis, laid a small wager with one of the members of his party, and won.

Reed says he considered himself lucky except that in the excitement of the race he caught his coat on a nail and ripped it for a loss of more than he had won.

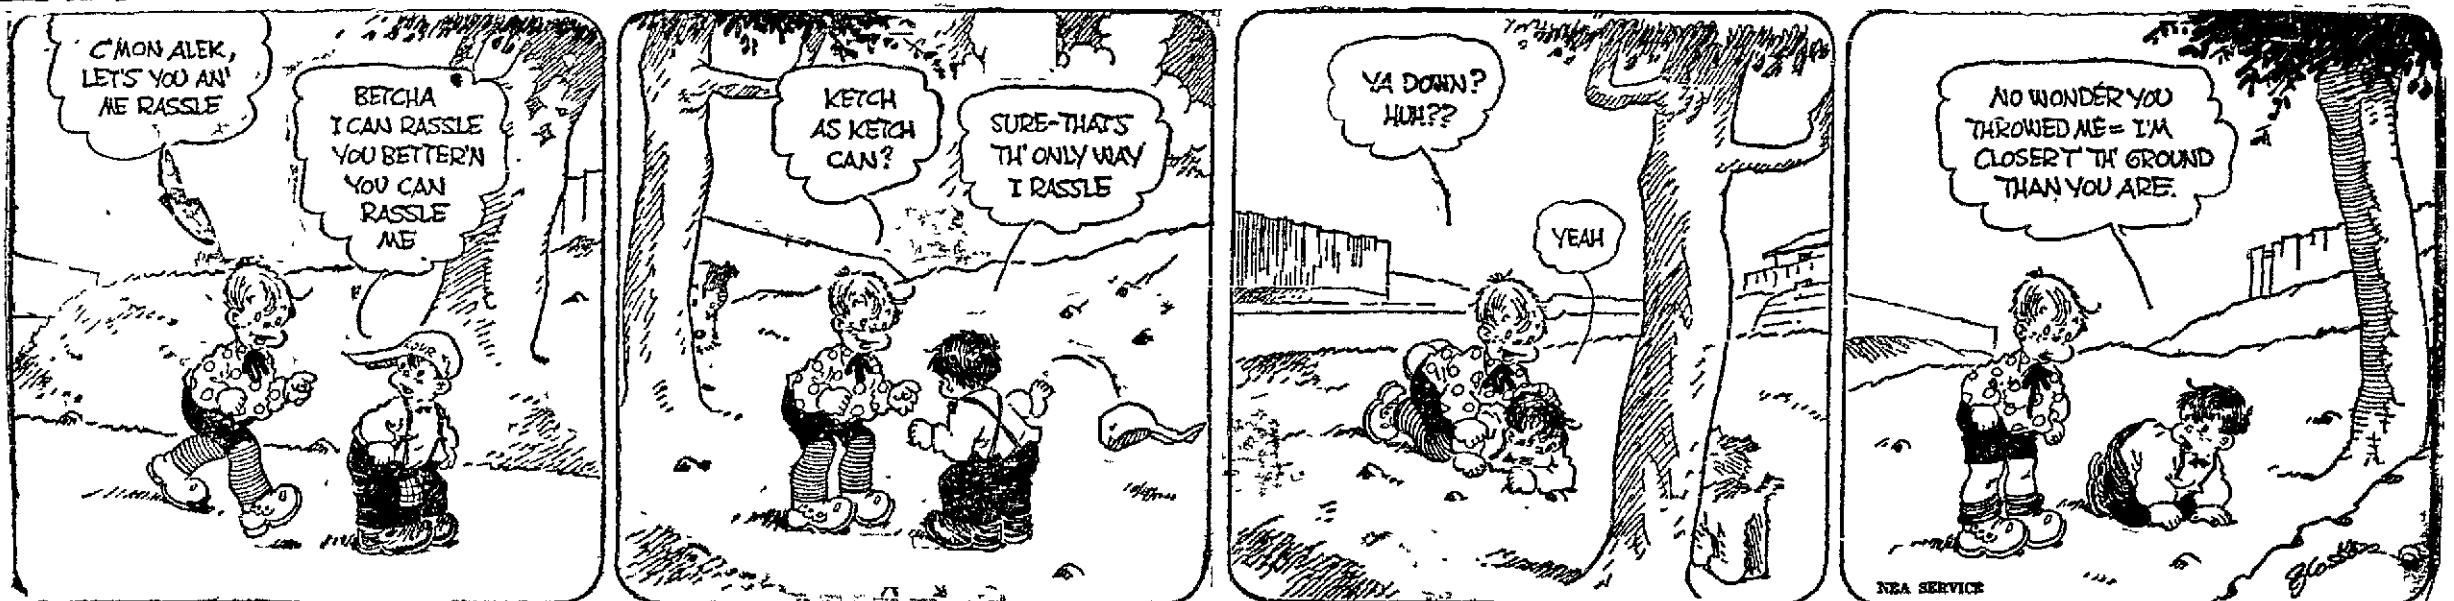

Charles Ash, engineer, bought a new straw hat in a hurry and was disturbed to find it was too small.

It sat up on his head so that almost any wind was strong enough to blow it off.

"But then I got a hair cut," he says, "and now the hat fits all right."

Allan Brady, banker, says a friend with whom he ate dinner one evening in a restaurant made the waitress angry by pretending to stop his knife on a steak.

"He thought she would laugh," says Brady, "when he explained that the knife was dull and the steak like leather." But she didn't.

Misses Gwendolyn Hoppess and Hazel Highland went fishing in Deer Creek near Waterloo. They hooked a large gar fish and landed it with only the help of Miss Hoppess' father, who pulled it out on the bank.

It was nearly four feet long. Gar fish are not considered good to eat, which seemed just as well to the Misses Gwendolyn Hoppess and Hazel Highland, for they said, "Who would want to eat a gar fish anyway?"

J. H. Mayer, architect, asked the manager of a lunch room why he didn't instruct the waitress not to slam the plates down on the marble top counter.

"A good idea," agreed the manager. "I'll tell them. That's how a lot of plates get chipped."

HOW TO SLEEP 3-IN-A-BED

YES, it CAN be done—but not like this.

The trouble is, most people go to bed with "something" on the mind—or ON THE STOMACH!

The answer is, no matter what the day has brought forth to upset your mind and digestive organs, take Beecham's Pills when you retire.

Though in no sense a "sleeping potion," this 80-years-famous household medicine so harmonizes the system that you can sleep in quiet and perfect rest, even in two feet of bed space.

Beecham's Pills are as efficient and harmless for children as for adults—sweetening the stomach, invigorating digestion and stirring liver and bowels to natural activity.

ESSENTIAL— as the wick to a candle

Everyone knows that to give the heat that means full power and big mileage. Red Crown Gasoline has just such a complete chain of boiling points and you can always get it anywhere in Ohio, at any one of the 450 Standard Service Stations or from any Red Crown dealer.

To perform efficiently and economically, gasoline must have a low initial boiling point. This makes it vaporize readily—start the motor quickly. It must also have a connecting series of gradually rising boiling points to provide smooth, fast acceleration. And it must have the proper body of higher boiling points
